Charges likely in cable TV case, task force formed

EDWARDSVILLE — Madison County State's Attorney Dick Allen said Tuesday he considers criminal charges likely against a company which provides cable television service in southern and eastern Madison County.

Allen spoke at a news conference he called to announce the formation of a citizens' task force to collect information on business practices and technical and customer service standards of Cencom Cable Associates Ltd.

Cencom purchased its Madison County operation in Maryville several months ago from South-Western Cable Television.

Allen said his office has received more than 500 complaints about the company and that municipalities also have received many complaints.

He said he believes he already has enough information to seek criminal charges, but set up the task force as a means to compile more information before he presents evidence.

All of the task force members are people who receive or have received Cencom services, Allen said.

He said persons who are not Cencom customers are unlikely to have much interest in the matter and that questions might be raised about his objectivity if he hand-picked task force members by some other method.

The prosecutor said the company engaged in numerous practices, some of which "desperately need to be addressed."

Allen said at least 80 percent of the citizen complaints are based on business procedures rather than potential violations of law.

Cencom Executive Vice President Barry Babcock said he does not know what any criminal charges would be based upon.

"He (Allen) is doing all this through the press," said Babcock. "He doesn't talk to us. I don't know what he's talking about."

Snow scare boosts overtime

By Dave Gosnell
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Fearing a snow emergency, the City Council inserted an extra $10,000 for overtime in the Street Department's budget.

The extra money was inserted before the council approved a budget for the 1987-88 fiscal year.

Street Superintendent Mac Warfield warned council members at Tuesday's City Council meeting that the new budget did not include enough overtime pay for workers to clear city streets in the event of a large snowfall.

"I want no aldermen on me" when a heavy snow occurs, Warfield said. "You don't call out two men in a snowstorm. I'm going to call the men out no matter what you do."

Warfield said he spent $24,000 in overtime last year for street department workers. The new budget allocated about $12,000 in street department overtime. In formulating the city's new budget, the Finance Committee cut allocations for overtime pay in many departments.

Warfield said much of the overtime pay is related to clearing city streets after a snowstorm. He said the public expects streets be cleared when it snows.

After discussing the matter with Warfield during a recess, 4th Ward Alderwoman Sharon Perjak introduced a motion, which passed, to give the Street Department $10,000 more.

In another last-minute budget change, in a close vote the council agreed to give Mayor Von Dee Cruse's secretary a 6 percent raise. Last week, Cruse was turned down in his request that his secretary be given $1,000 more in her $12,800 per-year salary. City workers generally are listed for a 3 percent raise next year.

Cruse again said that his secretary deserved the raise because she was the lowest paid city employee and she has done a good job.

But Perjak said Cruse had at least $33,000 in his budget for secretarial pay and that it was

District will get less state funds

GRANITE CITY — District 9 could see its state funding for the next school year cut by up to 8.5 percent due to Gov. James Thompson's veto of $13 million in state education spending.

Norm Owca, the district's financial director, estimated the district will receive between $780,000 and $800,000 less in state money. He said he would better know the amount after the district receives its first 1987-88 state aid check Aug. 3.

District 9 received $10,568,226 in state funds last school year, he said.

Owca said he was unsure how the cuts would affect the district. Expenditures would have to be reduced while trying not to cut district programs, he said.

"We're very displeased about it," said Superintendent Gib Wainsley. "We're going to do a careful adjustment of the budget."

The budget will be presented to the School Board at a meeting Aug. 18, Owca said.

The cuts are one of the biggest reductions in state funds to the district in four years, Wainsley said.

The cuts, if not overridden by the Legislature in October, mark the second time in Thompson's 11 years as governor that the per-pupil general state aid base has dropped from a previous year. The base level was lowered from $2,066 to $2,051 per student.

Nameoki, Granite City continue annexation fight

By Bill Bagby
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Nameoki Township and Granite City officials continue their battle over the annexation of Granite City Steel's coke plant into Granite City.

Madison County Associate Judge Edward Ferguson granted a court order last Friday allowing city officials to appeal a decision, made by Ferguson July 21, giving Nameoki Township Supervisor Harry Briggs Sr. the right to file a suit continuing the township's challenge of the annexation. Briggs must file an individual on behalf of the township due to a legal technicality. Township Attorney Irv Slate Jr. said at the Nameoki Township Board meeting Monday that Granite City officials believe Briggs can't contest the annexation since Briggs doesn't live in the area being annexed. The city has two weeks to file with the appellate court in Mt. Vernon, Slate said. The township then has two weeks to respond, he said.

New Madison alderman named

George Amisch

MADISON — George Amisch Jr. was appointed to fill the unexpired term of Jim Hillmer, an alderman in the 1st Ward, at a City Council meeting Tuesday night.

Hillmer submitted his resignation, saying he was moving outside the ward and could no longer serve in that capacity. He was elected in April 1985.

Mayor John Belicoff said, "I want to appoint a man who has been of great service to the community and has done a good job for the city. I think he will serve the 1st ward efficiently."

His appointment was confirmed unanimously by the aldermen. Immediately after the vote, City Clerk Bill Weidner

Street repairs up in air

By Dave Gosnell
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Whether to repave Madison Avenue or repair sections of neighborhood streets was debated by aldermen on Tuesday.

At issue are guidelines by the Illinois Department of Transportation (IDOT) on the use of Motor Fuel Tax money.

Second Ward Alderman Pat Schuman made a motion at Tuesday's City Council meeting to spend much of the city's portion of the tax this year to repave all of Madison Avenue.

Several months ago, the council agreed to spend $50,000 in each of the seven wards for street repairs using $350,000 of the city's portion of the fuel tax. A list of streets to be repaired in each ward was submitted.

Schuman proposed the repaving using asphalt, after an area IDOT representative, Bob Carey, told the board of some IDOT limits on the use of the tax. Carey told the board that the fuel tax can be used for city streets only if the projects conform to IDOT specifications. A question arose at the council's previous meeting on whether the city could purchase its own equipment and use city workers to resurface streets with the tax money.

Carey said the city could, but would have to prove the projects were as cost-effective as using a contractor and would meet IDOT specifications.

Superintendent of Streets Mac Warfield said IDOT has recommended the Madison Avenue project as a use for the tax money. He said the money could not be used for many neighborhood streets because of the city's plan to use oil and chips for resurfacing.

Warfield said the tax money can be used for oil and chipping only where oil and chipping has been used before and not over asphalt or concrete paving. Many neighborhood streets scheduled for repairs are paved with asphalt or concrete, but the pavement has deteriorated.

In order to repave those streets using the fuel tax money, the city would have to use asphalt or concrete, which is more complicated and expensive than oil and chips, and would have to submit design plans for IDOT's approval.

Warfield said it is not too late for Madison Avenue to be repaved this year and the project would be considered a good one by IDOT.

"It's a good idea and let's do it now," Schuman said. He said repaving Madison Avenue, a main entrance into the city, would greatly improve the city's image.

But some aldermen said many neighborhood residents have been promised their streets would be repaired and the alder-

Tactics to sell some hearing aids rapped

Some salesmen are using hearing tests, seminars and high-pressure sales tactics to sell expensive hearing aids to the elderly, said representatives of two state agencies. Complaints have come from people in Brighton and Edwardsville, said Dennis Orsey, assistant attorney general based in Granite City.

"Sales people will offer free hearing seminars and hearing tests to the elderly, and then pressure the old people to buy expensive hearing aids," Orsey said. "There are many reputable hearing aid sales firms throughout the Metro East area. There is no need to be taken in by itinerant hearing aid salesmen. It will be less costly in the long run if those with hearing must pass a written and practical competency test to get their licenses."

Orsey said he wants to hear from people who have been contacted by itinerant hearing aid sales people. His Granite City office telephone number is 877-0404.

Orsey said he has been working with Gail Tanner of the Illinois Department of Public Health, which has authority over the sale of hearing aids.

Tanner said, "Illinois has a hearing aid Consumer Protection Act, which requires hearing aid salesmen to be licensed. 'Our office can revoke the license of any salesman who uses illegal tactics to sell hearing aids,' she said. 'If someone is selling hearing aids without a license, then we contact the attorney general to handle the case.'"

Tanner said a Granite City hearing aid company, Bellone, of 2 Executive Park, is not involved in the complaints. "What we're trying to do is keep non-certified salesmen from selling hearing aids," Tanner said. "Bellone is certified."

Tanner said a company or corporation does not need a license, but their sales people must pass a written and practical competency test to get their licenses. "There are many good, reputable companies and sales people who provide testing and sell hearing aids," she said. "The hearing impaired and elderly should not have to deal with disreputable hearing aid sales people."

Those with complaints can call her office at 288-5731.

County Democrats hold picnic

A family picnic sponsored by the Madison County Democratic Central Committee is scheduled from 1 to 9 p.m. Saturday at the Wood River Aquatic Center.

It is touted as an inexpensive day of fun for families, said Mac Warfield, county Democratic chairman and Granite City superintendent of streets. Hot dogs, soda and beer will be sold for 25 cents and admission to the aquatic center facilities will be $2 per person. There will be games, a band and competitions.

Madison VFW installs

Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 7451 held an installation of officers for the 1987-88 year at the Madison Amvets Post.

Those installed were: Commander Lester White, Senior Vice Commander Grover Brannan, Junior Vice Commander Mike Kmetz, Post Quartermaster Nerserson Dollar, Post Adjutant Howard Schoellman, Trustees Pete Kosteci, Stanley Lapinski and Paul Ashford, Sergeant Officer Roger Pitts, Judge Advocate Larry Hayes, Post Surgeon Lloyd Burris, Officer of the Day David Hays and Sergeant at Arms George Breeden.

Installing officer was James McClanahan from Wood River, a past state commander.

The retiring commander is David Hays. During the past year, the post members assisted a community group with a fund-raising project and received an American flag from the First National Bank in Madison. The members are collecting donations for a large VFW unit flag and will participate in a light-a-bike program with Cub Scout Pack 1 of Venice-Madison.

Lester White, Laverne White, Grover Brannan, Marge Brannan, Roger Pitts and Carol Pitts attended a VFW district meeting and dinner dance earlier this month at the Cottage Hills Post 7678, the commander announced.

William Jackson state commander of the VFW, was the featured speaker and will speak at the September session of the Madison post. John White, state commander of the Amvets, addressed the group at its July meeting.

The post reported a 100 percent registration of members with the state and was the first group in the state to accomplish this.

An auxiliary unit is being organized and is in need of several more members to qualify for its charter, the commander said.

For additional information on becoming a member, those interested are to call 876-6339, 876-9688 or 876-3613.

Illinois drops funding for a stadium study

The money for a proposed state study of the feasibility of building a major sports stadium in the Madison-St. Clair counties area has been vetoed by Gov. James Thompson.

Funding for such a study was first approved by the legislature two years ago after Thompson met at the Executive Mansion in Springfield with St. Louis Football Cardinals owner Bill Bidwill.

The money was appropriated each of the last two years and approved by the governor. But it was never appropriated because officials were waiting to see what happened to proposals for a new stadium in Missouri.

A $26,000 appropriation for an Illinois stadium was again passed by the General Assembly in June 1987.

But Thompson vetoed the funding this time. Spokesman Jim Bray said it was cut from the state Capital Development Board reappropriation bill because the governor only approved projects "already under contract."

Bray conceded the study proposal has been on hold because "we were still waiting to see what happened to the stadium discussions on the other side of the river."

If Missouri proposals for a new stadium had "collapsed," the Illinois study would have gone forward, he said.

"We've just never been able to see any point where it appeared they wouldn't fund a stadium on the Missouri side," Bray added.

The Southwestern Illinois Leadership Council did an earlier preliminary study of potential stadium sites in the two counties, including one in the Collinsville area. But Mary Kane, the executive director of that regional economic development group, had emphasized it was not intended to "steal" a stadium away from Missouri.

Bidwill has been contending since late 1984 that a larger stadium than Busch Stadium in downtown St. Louis is needed for the football Cardinals. Busch, which seats just over 50,000, is one of the smallest facilities in the National Football League, although the Cardinals have played before many empty seats there during sub-par seasons.

Bidwill's present plans are to occupy a new stadium proposed for the Riverport area of west St. Louis County, near the Missouri River. However, the St. Louis mayor has announced plans to sue the football club to force it to stay in the city.

Painting class set for area youngsters

The Tri-City Area YMCA will offer a beginning painting class for children starting Aug. 1, at noon.

Shelley Rozycski is the instructor for the class, which will last six weeks.

Students will learn to sketch, do watercolors and paper mache, and learn about different styles such as impressionist, abstract, expressionist and surrealist.

An advanced class will begin after the six-week course has ended. The advanced class will continue to develop styles and techniques, and students will learn more about art theory.

The age range for this class is 5 to 10 years.

The fee for the six-week session will be $8 for YMCA members and $12 for guests.

Further information can be obtained by calling the YMCA at 876-7200.

Lifesaving class set

A Red Cross lifesaving class, sponsored by the Granite City Park District, will begin Monday at the Wilson Park Pool. The class will meet from 8 to 11 a.m. Monday-Friday for two weeks.

The cost is $5 for residents and $10 for non-residents. There will be an additional cost for the book that goes with the class.

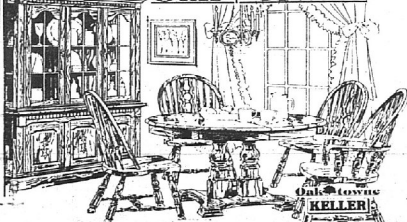

The class will be limited to 20 students. Persons wanting to register can call the pool at 876-7465.

The top three graduates of the class will be offered a position at the pool, a spokesman said.

'Welfare rolls to payrolls' campaign gains momentum

Gov. James R. Thompson on July 23 signed into law legislation to put Illinois on the forefront of national efforts to combat welfare dependency.

"In Illinois, we have taken the first crucial steps toward welfare reform by eliminating roadblocks that discourage self-sufficiency — and by paving the way for public aid recipients to achieve economic independence," the governor said.

Thompson said the new laws will improve on recent reforms in the state's public aid system by expanding Illinois' successful welfare-to-work program, Project Chance; bolstering child support enforcement; and strengthening a safety net of support services to help former recipients make the transition from welfare rolls to payrolls.

"The new welfare reform laws will make Illinois a model for states across the nation grappling with the problem of chronic dependency," Thompson said, noting that welfare reform legislation pending in Congress contains many of the provisions outlined in this state's new laws.

Based on recommendations by the Governor's Task Force Welfare Reform, House Bill 2853 received near unanimous support in the General Assembly and represented a bipartisan consensus among legislators, the administration and welfare advocates.

Edward T. Duffy, director of the Illinois Department of Public Aid, said the new laws will enable the agency to expand the Project Chance program, the nation's leading welfare-to-work effort, which has placed more than 75,000 public aid clients into permanent, full-time jobs since 1985.

"Project Chance has been highly successful in fostering the move from welfare to the working world — proving that public aid recipients who have the opportunity to broaden their education and skills can become self-supporting," Duffy said.

"Welfare reform will solidify our efforts by easing the transition, protecting former aid recipients on the job, making parents bear financial responsibility for their children and, above all, ensuring that welfare is never an acceptable solution to unemployment."

Duffy said the new laws will allow the department to exceed its goal of placing more than 100,000 public aid clients into jobs by early 1988.

A key element is a six-month extension in medical assistance and day care benefits to give former welfare recipients the ability to continue working.

"The inability to afford day care and medical benefits is the major barrier blocking many women on welfare from accepting jobs," Thompson said.

"Extending these support services over a longer period of time will give them the security to enter the workforce without fear of having their benefits stripped away."

The governor said the state's new commitment to welfare reform offers the means to implement a grant diversion program to funnel welfare grants to employers as a wage subsidy, giving businesses greater incentive to hire Project Chance clients.

Another component of the new laws is expansion of the department's child support enforcement system, designed to combat the state's leading cause of welfare dependency.

Plans to toughen penalties for delinquent support payments and to initiate an amnesty program are expected to produce a significant boost in child support collections.

"This gives the state a powerful new legal weapon to require parents to meet their financial responsibility for their children," said Thompson. "We cannot tolerate those who refuse to uphold their child support obligations when it forces children to live in a state of poverty."

Illinois also will have greater authority to withhold child support payments from delinquent parents' paychecks, and the department will be able to expand its computer system to identify and collect outstanding child support payments.

The welfare reforms also revamp the General Assistance (GA) program in Chicago, open to needy individuals and some families ineligible for federal support. Under the new laws, GA recipients will take part in job training and education programs. Specialized support services will be available for alcohol and drug abuse, mental health care and homeless outreach.

"Most of the GA clients are men who have 'fallen through the cracks' of the system. With the proper tools and support, we can restore their pride and confidence and help them realize their potential to build a better life for themselves," the governor said.

Additionally, the welfare reform bills enable the Department of Public Aid to assist disabled recipients and others in applying for federal Supplemental Security Income (SSI) benefits.

Thompson said the state will continue to actively seek changes in the federal welfare system, to enhance Illinois' efforts to effectively control public aid dependency. Resolutions urging Congressional action were adopted during the spring General Assembly session.

Work proceeding on lock, dam

Despite months of cleanup after last fall's heavy flooding, the 1,200-foot lock is beginning to take shape at the new Lock and Dam No. 26 in the Mississippi River, south of Alton and north of Granite City.

Lock construction slowed for several months as workers struggled to clear silt and debris from the massive cofferdam, which holds out the river and creates a dry place for work on the river bottom.

During last October's floods, the river rose to within one foot of the top of the cofferdam, forcing construction to stop temporarily.

"We actually lost about four months," said Ted Bissell, resident engineer for the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers. "Anytime you lose that much time, it's a major obstacle."

The corps' work is now concentrated on construction of the quarter-mile-long concrete and steel lock, which should be open for traffic by December 1988, Bissell said.

Workers are using a towering expanse of cranes and wires to haul concrete from one side of the cofferdam to the other.

A solid concrete lock bottom is complete and work is now focused on the lock walls, which contain culverts to force water in and out of the dam.

The upstream and downstream guidewalls are under construction, using giant pipes six feet in diameter and 230-ton steel beams lowered into place by a special machine the size of a small house.

"It seems slow. Day to day you look at it and it seems the same," said civil engineer Sig Goersch. "But then, if you're away for just a month or so, you can really see we've been making progress here," he said, pointing to the rising mounds of concrete taking shape.

The massive lock will allow tugboats with as many as 18 barges to lock through for the first time without being divided into sections, as they are forced to do now.

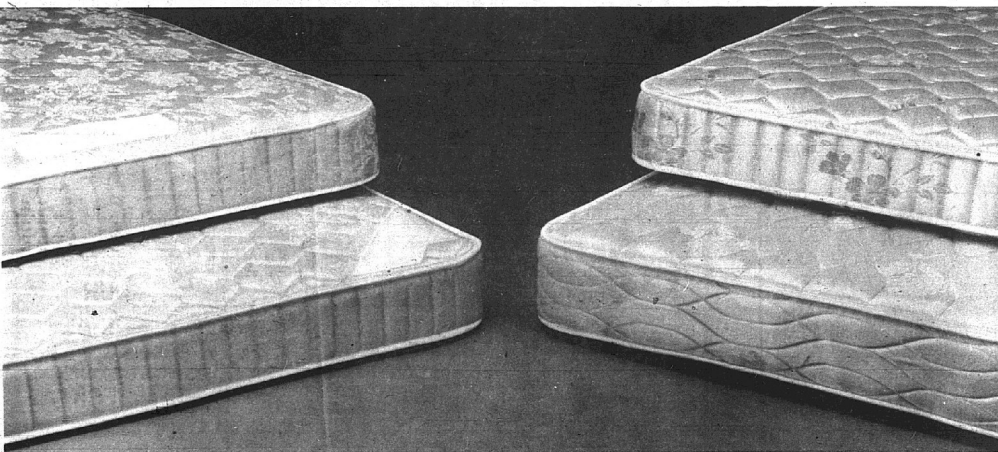

The original locks and dam were designed and built in the 1930s. The main lock two miles upstream from the present work site is 600 feet long, half the length of the replacement lock being built.

A second new lock, scheduled to be 600 feet long, has been authorized by Congress. Granite City Locks No. 27 consist of a main lock 1,200 feet in length and an auxiliary lock of 600 feet.

Methanol, other fuels urged

U.S. Sen. Jack Danforth, R-Mo., has called for federal action to stimulate the use of methanol and other alternative fuels in passenger automobiles.

High-sulfur Illinois coal would be one of the sources used. Danforth said methanol and other alternative fuels are cleaner than gasoline, readily available from domestic sources, and in some cases fully price-competitive with gasoline.

He joined July 21 with Sen. Jay Rockefeller, D-W.Va., and others to introduce the Methanol and Alternative Fuels Promotion Act of 1987. The Rockefeller-Danforth bill is based on legislation offered by the two senators in 1985 and by Danforth in 1984.

The new legislation created incentives for auto manufacturers to offer vehicles able to burn alternative fuels, along with in mixture with gasoline. The incentive is in the form of additional credits in meeting federal fuel efficiency standards.

One feature of the original Danforth methanol legislation in 1984, purchase of 5,000 alternative fuel vehicles by the General Services Administration, was recently announced with announcement that GSA will make the purchase. The legislation would accelerate the conversion by increasing the number of alternative fuel vehicles and creating a consumer demand for methanol fuels.

Danforth said of the 1987 legislation: "The U.S. does not have an energy shortage. There are virtually no long-term limits on our ability to produce electricity. Domestic coal supplies are adequate for centuries."

"What we face is a shortage of liquid fuels primarily for transportation. More than 60 percent of our oil consumption is in the form of liquid transportation fuel."

"Last week, gasoline prices at the pump broke $1 a gallon for the first time in 16 months. Methanol is more than price-competitive with gasoline. Today, the methanol equivalent of a gallon of gasoline would retain for $1, or less, a figure that includes transportation costs, taxes, and retail markup."

"Alternative fuels would reduce our dangerous dependence on imported oil from the Persian Gulf."

The recent increase in gasoline prices, coupled with the explosive political climate in the Gulf, underscore the message of this legislation: now is the time to begin the conversion to alternative domestic fuels, he said.

Methanol burns so efficiently that it already is used for race cars at the Indianapolis 500. Methanol has been used in car fleets operated by the Bank of America and the State of California, and he said he welcomes the recent announcement that the federal government will buy 5,000 alternative fuel vehicles.

"Methanol and other alternative fuels burn more cleanly than gasoline, and widespread use would help cities such as St. Louis and Kansas City meet federal clean air standards," he said.

"Methanol is readily available from domestic natural gas and coal and would create a long-term market for high-sulfur coal from Missouri and other states."

Under the Rockefeller-Danforth bill, automakers would receive alternative fuel credits as follows:

(1) For vehicles using 85 percent alternative fuel at all times, mileage would be rated on the basis of gasoline "consumed." Thus, a 25 miles per gallon vehicle would be rated at 165 mpg for purposes of calculating the maker's fuel efficiency.

(2) Vehicles able to burn either alternative fuels or gasoline would be rated for fuel efficiency on the assumption that they would run on a 50/50 mixture. The rating would be based on an average that would account for the fact that gasoline has a somewhat higher energy value than alternative fuels. Thus, a 25 mpg vehicle would be rated at 40 mpg.

Manufacturers could realize the credit for dual-fuel vehicles up to 200,000 units annually, or 1.2 mpg on their fleetwide-fuel efficiency rating, whichever is the greater.

If production of 200,000 units produces a fuel efficiency increase in excess of 1.2 mpg, then the credit would be capped at 1.5 mpg. The credits would be available beginning in model year 1993.

Ex-police officer, Koetting, an experienced Ford man

By Jo Ann Dreas
Journal correspondent

After years of working for other dealers, Jerry Koetting reached a goal of his own. He found the opportunity to purchase a Ford franchise, and since October 1984, he has owned Koetting Ford Inc., 1837 Madison Ave.

Koetting didn't start in the automobile business, though. "I am a former St. Louis police officer," he said, "and as a matter of fact, I used to work for another former St. Louis city police officer—Dave Sinclair." Sinclair is a Ford dealer at 7466 S. Lindbergh in south St. Louis County.

Koetting said that while he was working as a police officer, he was recalled for active duty in the army "during the Berlin crisis." When he was discharged in 1962, he decided not to return to the police department.

"I was thinking about finding an opportunity to increase the potential of my income," he said. He then turned to the business of selling cars.

"I went to work for a subsidiary of Costello-Kunze Ford, called Northland Car and Truck Leasing Co., and I was a leasing salesman for them," he said. The business was located next to the Ford dealership, which was at 9000 W. Florissant, he said.

Koetting stayed with Costello-Kunze Ford for many years where he worked in a variety of capacities. After serving as leasing salesman for six months, he became a new-car salesman. That's when he worked directly under Dave Sinclair, he said.

After several promotions, including used-car manager and new-car manager, Koetting rose to the position of vice president and general sales manager.

Along with added responsibilities, came an added interest in the dealership. "I bought into the company," he said, "and eventually acquired controlling interest in it."

In January 1983, he sold the company to County Ford. Koetting said that although he sold the business, he stayed on for several months, serving as consultant to the dealership.

In 1984, B.E. Holt's well-established Ford dealership in Granite City became available and Koetting obtained it. "I am absolutely delighted with the Granite City community," he said.

Many improvements have been made at the facility, he said, including some major renovations to the office area. Another improvement has been the reopening of a body shop next to the dealership.

During the 25 years that he has been in the automobile business, Koetting has seen many changes—most notably with regard to price.

"Although the price of cars has really escalated, the other side of the coin is that the cars are far superior to what they were as recently as the 1970s," he said.

Ford offers many choices for the consumer, Koetting said. The Escort is a popular car and may cost as little as $6,200, he said. Although it has broad appeal, it is primarily an entry car for young people and also makes an excellent second car, he added.

Another Ford model is the Crown Victoria, "which may run as high as $20,000," he said, although most cost closer to $17,000. Koetting said that he offers something for everyone.

The dealership sits on about five acres, and at any given time there may be as many as 125 new cars on the lot. Koetting employs 30 people.

Koetting has won numerous industry awards.

Man beaten with board

David Cage, 204 Madison Ave., told police at 6:20 p.m. July 24 he confronted a man about a traffic accident that had occurred earlier and another person came up behind him and struck him across the back with a board. Cage said the man he was talking with then began to hit him with the board across the arms until he ran from the area.

Apprehended on warrant

Shirley Sharp, 25, of 82 Venice Homes, Venice, was arrested in the 1200 block of Calhoun Street, Venice, by Madison police at 7:57 p.m. July 23 and booked on a Granite City warrant alleging battery. She was transferred to the Granite City police station.

Truck looted of pistol

Jim Kuml of Chicago told police he went to the restaurant at Gateway Midstate Truck Plaza at 12:30 a.m. July 23 and, upon returning to his truck, found the door ajar; $160 in currency was missing along with his identification papers, driver license and a .22-caliber automatic pistol.

Woman beaten about face

Arbilla Moore, of 74 Garesche Homes, told police at 4:29 p.m. July 26 that a man she knew came to her apartment, started an argument and began striking her in the face with his fists. There was swelling to her face and forehead.

DUI arrest in Madison

Gina K. Welch, 28, of 906 Grand Ave., Madison, was stopped by Madison police in the 1000 block of Grand Avenue at 11:57 p.m. July 26 and charged with driving under the influence of alcohol. She was released on $102 bail and is to appear Sept. 10 in Edwardsville.

Testing for radon scrapped

SPRINGFIELD — The plan to test up to 100 houses in Madison County this summer for the presence of radon has been scrapped, a victim of state budget cuts.

The Department of Nuclear Safety had requested another $200,000 for the fiscal year that started July 1 to continue a program of randomly sampling homes for concentrations of radon, a naturally produced radioactive gas linked to cancer.

The money was stripped out by the legislature, so a plan to next test homes in Madison and St. Clair counties has been delayed indefinitely, Bruce Rodman of DNS said.

DNS earlier tested about 1,200 homes in the Chicago metropolitan area and another 400 in central and deep southern Illinois counties.

The Metro East area had been the "next priority" before the funds were cut, Rodman said.

He said local officials still could get technical assistance from the state if they wished to pay for the radon testing.

The radon detectors, small canisters that absorb radioactive particles in a home, cost about $20 apiece and may be privately purchased by homeowners and sent in to DNS for analysis, he added.

The state agency will continue to operate its toll-free radon information "hotline" established last summer to answer public inquiries. The number is 800-225-1245.

Several thousand persons have called the number.

Rodman said the agency still has a goal of sampling homes in every county in the state. The agency had planned to complete the program over the next year, but "now it will take longer."

The homes tested so far indicated there is no significant health hazard from radon in the state, Rodman said.

About 25 percent of sampled basements showed unsafe radon radioactivity readings.

Vaccine for children needed

By Donna Meyer, RN
INA vice president

In the last decades we have seen many advances in pediatric health care. One of the areas is the event of immunizations for children. No longer do we have the scenes from the early 1950s when there were fulminating cases of polio across the United States.

Our children today can now be protected against many of the childhood diseases. At present there are vaccines available for: polio, pertussis, diphtheria, tetanus, measles, mumps and rubella. Work is continuing on a vaccine for chicken pox, and it is hoped that it will be available in the next couple of years.

There is a new vaccine about which some are not yet aware. This newcomer is the HIB vaccine which became available in spring 1985, the haemophilus influenza type B vaccine aids in protecting children against such diseases caused by H flu type bacteria such as meningitis, epiglottitis, sepsis, cellulitis, osteomyelitis and pneumonia.

The HIB vaccine is recommended by the American Academy of Pediatrics for children between the ages of 2 and 5. At this time, routine revaccination is not recommended. It has been demonstrated that the vaccine is 90 percent effective in children of this age group. The exact efficacy of the vaccine in children 18 to 23 months of age is not yet established. However, initial vaccination at 18 months is recommended for two specific groups: These groups are children with chronic conditions associated with increased risk for HIB disease. The vaccine is not recommended for children under 18 months.

The immunizing dose is a single injection of the vaccine. Side effects from the vaccine have been found to be minimal. They include fever and local inflammation at the site of injection. Generally these adverse effects are minor and last 24 hours or less. A fever of 101 or higher has been reported in about 2 percent of HIB vaccine recipients and about 10 percent of the children had local reaction at the injection site.

It must be emphasized that the HIB vaccine will only protect against haemophilus influenzae type B infectious processes. However, this bacteria accounts for very serious illnesses in children. If you have additional questions about the vaccine and have a child age 2 to 5 years, speak with your pediatrician or nurse practitioner. Who knows, with the continued research, we may someday see the end of these childhood diseases.

SIUE reacts to Thompson's cuts by saying no to teachers' raises

SPRINGFIELD — Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will give no pay raises to its faculty and add no new programs for the 1987-88 school year as a result of budget cuts by Gov. James Thompson.

But SIUE is also the only one of the state university systems that does not expect to have to lay off employees as a result of the governor's vetoes, a state Board of Higher Education official said.

The University of Illinois expects to eliminate 350 to 500 positions. The group of universities under the Board of Regents system will cut a total of 150 temporary faculty members and the Board of Governors system plans to eliminate 110 positions from its universities, BHE Deputy Director Ross Hodel said.

The operating budget for SIUE for this year after the governor's veto action July 20 is $55.2 million, a drop of more than $1.3 million from last year.

SIUE would have received about $5.7 million under the funding approved by the legislature that was cut by Thompson.

SIUE will have to defer filling many vacant positions as a result of the reduced budget.

President Earl Larson said. He reiterated there will be no general salary increases for faculty and non-university staff unless there is a promotion to a position with a higher base salary.

Unionized civil service employees will still get pay raises under their contracts.

SIUE will also put off maintenance work on campus buildings; delay purchase of new instructional and research equipment; and not start any new programs, Larson added.

SIUE budget director John Ulrich said economy measures might involve reduction of hours of some hourly employees as well as "possible reduction of student work hours."

Ulrich said the reduced budget includes none of the added funds requested for the operation of a recently opened new clinic at the SIUE School of Dental Medicine in Alton.

SEMC Auxiliary awards 30 health scholarships

The St. Elizabeth Medical Center Auxiliary has awarded scholarships to 30 students for the upcoming year at its annual scholarship award banquet.

Scholarship recipients and their major fields of study are: Paula Bills, medical records/library science; Stacey Broshaw, pharmacology; Richard Brown, dentistry; Pamela Dudak, medical records/library science; James Dimitroff, medical school.

Angela Grabowski, pharmacology; Tamela Gay, nursing; Kathleen Grabowski, pharmacology; Lynn Hankins, physical therapist; Steven Howell, social work; Laura Ingram, medical records/technologist.

Sabrina Jackson, nursing; Donna Kastele, nursing; Helen Lewis, nursing; Michael Loftus, pharmacology; Christine Loyet, nursing.

Rodney Lupardus, medical school; Gloria Milanis, nursing; Thomas Miller, social worker; Janine Modica, medical assistant; Jacquelyn Morris, nursing; Donna Partney, physical therapist.

Michelle Poyner, nursing; Michelle Sikora, physical therapist; Pam Svoboda, pharmacology; Jeanne Trimmer, medical school; Beth Turner, radiologic technologist; Linda Valencia, nursing; Kellye Wroster, pharmacology; and Susan Fabry, nursing.

Each scholarship is $350 and is given on a one-year renewable basis contingent on current grade point average and financial need. Twenty of this year's scholarship recipients are renewals.

Eligible students must be accepted into a full-time health- or medical-related program. The allied health fields such as dietary, medical records, social work and pharmacology are included. According to Joyce Toussaint, auxiliary scholarship committee chairperson, a new field has been added — physician's assistant.

Medical students are accepted into the program after they begin medical school. No pre-medical or pre-dental students are awarded scholarships.

"Interest in the medical field has grown," said Toussaint. "Usually, the biggest number of scholarships goes to nursing students, but this year I noticed a bigger increase in pharmacology."

The Auxiliary's scholarship program was started in 1960, with only one scholarship being awarded. By 1976, that number had grown to 11.

Applications for scholarships are available after Jan. 1 of each year in the SEMC Coffee Shop or Gift Shop. Students must return their applications by April 1, along with a personal letter of introduction, two letters of reference from others, a copy of a grade transcript, a receipt of acceptance to a program, and a photo, if possible.

The scholarship committee then reviews the applications and notifies the recipients. Monies are given directly to the student, but to the school for tuition and needed supplies. There is no preferential treatment in choosing the award recipients.

"The Auxiliary takes a personal interest in its scholarship recipients. I am a nurse myself," said Toussaint. "When any student applies for an allied health field, I feel a kinship, and would like to be able to help."

IFT officer blasts cuts in state education funding

Illinois Federation of Teachers Secretary-Treasurer Ken Drum has blasted Gov. Thompson's $233 million cut in education funding. The cut, linked to legislative inaction on higher taxes, was announced July 20.

"Many Illinois schools have been placed in jeopardy for the year unless additional funds are appropriated," he warned.

Drum chastised the legislature for failing to pass a tax increase that would have provided more revenue for education.

"Our legislators, by failing to act, have created this problem, and it is now up to them to solve it. The legislative leadership must bring the legislature back in session immediately to avert a potential 'bankruptcy' of Illinois' schools," he said.

"One of the union's chief concerns centers on the future of the state's education reform movement, which previously had surpassed similar efforts elsewhere in the nation.

"An annual commitment of $250 million was made to education in 1985, and that commitment has yet to be lived up to."

IFT's chief legislative lobbyist, Margaret Blackshire, a former Madison public school teacher, the union is also angry with the state's cut in pension funding for teachers and public service employees.

"The IFT does not feel that budget cuts should be made at the expense of workers' pension plans. The solution is for the legislature to return for a special session and approve a tax increase," she said.

Blackshire said that, as a result of the cuts, "at-risk children" will not receive needed pre-school education.

Regional growth predicted by new telephone manager

Ron Capek has been named district manager of Illinois Bell for Southern Illinois, succeeding Harry K. Windland, who was transferred to the Chicago area.

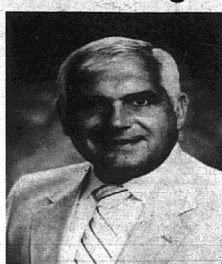

The appointment brings Capek back to the district in which he previously served as district manager for construction, engineering and assignment.

Capek is enthusiastic about the future of the district, saying he looks "for accelerated growth in the Metro East area."

He is responsible for system design, installation and maintenance in the company's telephone service area south of Springfield, with the heaviest concentration in the Illinois part of metropolitan St. Louis.

The district serves 115 communities in 12 counties, with 240,000 accounts, of which 212,000 are residential and 28,000 are business. Employment totals 788 in 68 offices. District headquarters are in East St. Louis.

His most recent service was as project manager for design, construction and installation of Illinois Bell's $30-million integrated information network at the University of Illinois, Urbana-Champaign. The network is a voice and data product of the Ameritech Business Network. It has 22,000 lines and is Ron Capek is the largest such system in the Midwest.

Capek received a bachelor of arts degree from Cornell College, Mt. Vernon, Iowa. He joined Illinois Bell in 1966 in the marketing department in Rockford after six years of active Marine Corps duty, including service in Vietnam.

He held the rank of major in the Marine Reserve. Capek is married and has two children.

Toll-free line offers help to businesses

Small-business owners having trouble with government can call the Small Business Administration's toll-free Answer Desk at 1-800-368-5855 between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. on business days.

The call will be one of 200,000 since the Answer Desk began in 1982. Fifty thousand calls came over the line in 1986 alone.

Robert Clairmont, director of the Answer Desk, said the service "attempts to eliminate the frustration that often occurs when the small-business person in need of information tries to cope with the maze of government agencies."

Trained SBA employees are ready to answer and help with questions called in by business owners and prospective business owners. Callers request help with bidding on federal contracts, guidance on how to get government loans, or general information available in hundreds of SBA publications.

If a question cannot be answered directly, callers are referred to the appropriate government agency.

Calls after 4 p.m. are recorded for the next business day.

June sales up statewide

Illinois retail sales jumped 6.12 percent in June over the same month a year ago, according to information released July 21 by the Illinois Retail Merchants Association.

All three geographic regions reported substantial increases. Metropolitan Chicago reported the highest gain of 7.1 percent, followed by increases in Northern Illinois of 2.89 percent and in Central/Southern Illinois of 0.41 percent.

David F. Vite, president of the IRMA, announced the May results of the IRMA/Touche Ross Retail Sales Comparison Report. The 60 firms surveyed, represented by 256 stores statewide, have totaled over $84 million Illinois sales volume for the retailing fiscal year beginning Feb. 1.

"The June sales figures have shown strong increases for the second quarter," Vite said. "Industry analysts' observations that the Midwest is staging a comeback in retail sales are substantiated in all three reports for this quarter."

Shoe, variety, and other stores fared the best in June, reporting an overall increase of 11.59 percent, with Central/Southern Illinois up 14.48 percent, Northern Illinois up 11.05 percent, and Metropolitan Chicago increasing 9.47 percent.

Department stores were up 5.75 percent statewide, with increases of 7.88 percent in Chicago and 1.24 percent in Northern Illinois. Central/Southern Illinois decreased 5.96 percent.

Men's and women's specialty sales increased 6.34 percent in Northern Illinois and 3.55 in Chicago, but dropped 2.71 percent in Central/Southern Illinois.

Environmentalists push too hard

By Richard L. Leshar
U.S. Chamber of Commerce

The evolution of the environmental movement in this country underscores the wisdom of Howard's comment. Many years ago, environmentalists earned a reputation for public service, focusing the nation's attention on real environmental problems and leading the campaign for tough clean air and water laws.

More recently, as some environmentalists have become extremist and irresponsible, they continue to enjoy the good name acquired long ago. They are running on "empty," but the public doesn't know it.

That is why voters in California last fall approved Proposition 65 by a 2 to 1 margin. The law, promoted by environmental extremists, requires the governor to publish a list of chemicals "known to cause cancer or reproductive toxicity" and offers financial incentives for citizens to bring legal action against companies that sell products containing those substances.

The law does not distinguish between substances that cause cancer in animals and those in humans.

Airport-home combo planned

An Edwardsville businessman and pilot, nationally known for his exploits with hot-air balloons, is developing a 166-acre residential area east of Edwardsville for airplane pilots.

Flying Esch Estates is being developed by Robert Esch, who piloted the world's largest hot-air balloon on several record trips in 1978 and 1980 with astronaut Ed Mitchell, one of eight astronauts to walk on the Moon.

Esch's development will consist of two runways, 3,700 and 2,500 feet long, and 22 lots varying from three to 10 acres. Prices for the lots start at $25,000.

The development is laid out, Esch said, so each owner can literally park his plane in his garage.

Esch said there is a great demand for such a development because there are over 5,000 in the St. Louis area who are flying airplanes and many would welcome the opportunity to park their planes at home.

Flying Esch Estates is located just north of Illinois 143 on Pin

California Gov. George Deukmejian opposed Proposition 65 but now it is law and he must enforce it. He appointed a scientific advisory board to create a list of known carcinogens and, based upon its recommendations, issued a list of 29 substances.

Naturally, some environmental groups sued for a longer list and a superior court judge sided with them, ordering the governor to add 201 substances to it.

Deukmejian is appealing the decision in what will surely be the first of a long series of legal actions.

The fundamental flaw in Proposition 65 is its indifference to modern science. Under laboratory conditions, scientists can induce carcinogenic reactions in test animals with a wide variety of otherwise innocuous substances.

It is highly questionable whether those results have applicability to humans. Also, modern science can detect traces of chemicals down to levels of parts per quadrillion, which means you can find just about anything anywhere.

In other words, under the loose language of Proposition 65, an awesome host of common substances become suspect — bread, bacon, mushrooms, herbs, cola, pepper, maybe even tap water. Taken to its illogical, absurd extreme, every victim of cancer in California will be encouraged to file suit against any company that sells food or beverages.

Unless the governor's plan prevails, California soon will be deluged in an avalanche of lawsuits as the lunacy is played out. But in the end, Proposition 65 may yet serve a useful purpose. It may awaken ordinary citizens to the silliness of the propaganda about carcinogens being ubiquitous.

With luck, the public may come to realize that the environmental extremists who sold them this phony bill of goods should no longer be trusted or taken seriously.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING TO BE HELD BY THE GRANITE CITY PARK DISTRICT TO COMPLY WITH THE TRUTH-IN-TAXATION ACT OF THE STATE OF ILLINOIS (ILL. REV. STAT., 1985, CHAPTER 120, PARAGRAPH 861, ET. SEQ.) (Public Act No. 82-102)

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN BY THE BOARD OF PARK COMMISSIONERS OF THE GRANITE CITY PARK DISTRICT, Madison County, Illinois, that:

1. The aggregate amount of property taxes, exclusive of election costs, extended by the County Clerk of Madison County, Illinois, upon the levy by the Granite City Park District for its fiscal year 1986-1987 based on the assessed valuation of the District for the year 1986 was $551,844.24.

2. The amount of property taxes, exclusive of election costs, estimated as necessary to be raised by taxation for the District's fiscal year 1987-1988 and based on taxed levied against the assessed valuation of the District for the year 1987 is $579,550.00.

3. Said proposed levy of $579,550.00 for the year 1987-1988 represents an increase of 5.02% over the taxes actually extended by the County Clerk of Madison County on the assessed valuation of the District for the year 1986 and is, therefore, 105.02% of the said 1986 tax extension made by said County Clerk.

4. A public hearing regarding said proposed aggregate amount of property tax to be levied and extended for the District's fiscal year 1987-1988 on the assessed valuation of the District for the year 1987 will be held at 6:30 p.m. on the 12th day of August, 1987 at the office of the Granite City Park District, located in Wilson Park, Benton and Oregon Streets, Granite City, Illinois, at which time the Board will explain its reasons for increasing the tax levy.

All persons desiring to be heard on any matter regarding the proposed tax levy related to the assessed valuation of the District for the year 1987 may appear and be heard at the time and place hereinabove designated.

DATED this 30th day of July, 1987.

"I made a lot of promises to people in my ward. Let us carry out our promises to the people of our wards and stick to the list," said 5th Ward Alderman Jake Varadian. Varadian said he wished that Schuman would drop his motion in favor of using next year's fuel tax allotment for Madison Avenue.

"I'm going to have a lot of disappointed people in the 6th Ward. They need to get their hands on the money," said Alderman Judy Whitaker.

Babcock said Cencom would cooperate with the task force "to the extent that the task force is concerned with trying to find out what the problems are and how they are being solved."

Co-chairmen of the 15-member task force are Mark Goldenberg, city attorney of Granite City, and Charles Rodell of Granite City.

Members include Marvin Ribbing of Pontoon Beach, John Ervin of Venice, Felicia Jackson of Madison and George Cochran of Granite City.

The task force is expected to hold a series of meetings to help it gather information from the cable company's subscribers.

McCaill said the task force also will review material collected by Allen. He said he was using deceptive marketing tactics for his pay-per-view service.

Allen, a member of Cencom's literature and advertisements implied that customers could watch Cardinal baseball games and selected movies at no charge when they picked up their program de-cramblers, called PD-3s, from Cencom.

Cencom said its advertisements were not misleading. Allen, in a meeting with Allen, the company agreed to run advertisements in several area newspapers to clarify the device's high cost.

After they attached the PD-3s to their converter boxes, McCaill said, subscribers said a code on the converter boxes had rendered inoperative and their remote controls could no longer record one program while they watched another.

Consumers have had difficulty receiving Cencom by telephone with their questions, complaints and subscription requests, McCaill said, because the lines are constantly busy. Cencom said it has hired additional personnel and has extended its hours for answering the phones.

Allen contacted the Illinois attorney general's office in April about the consumer complaints.

He moved to Granite City in 1941 and graduated from Granite City High School in 1949 and later from SIUE. Amisch also attended the University of Oklahoma.

Partney said he wanted to know from Mayor Von Dee Cruse if the Community Development money would be used to repair neighborhood streets and what streets would be repaired, should fuel tax money be used for Madison Avenue.

Cruse said he thought a long-term street repair plan should be produced before such decisions are made. He said he didn't want to use all the Community Development money for street repairs but that some of it probably could be used for that purpose.

Schuman's motion passed after it was changed to only accept bids for a possible repaving. The motion did not obligate the city to resurface Madison Avenue.

A motion by Varadian to accept bids for neighborhood streets to be oiled and chipped also passed.

County now 175 years old

Constitutional celebrations dating back 200 years call to mind the fact that Madison County is 175 years old this year.

It is true that Illinois is a mere 169, having been established in 1818. But Madison County, which once had boundaries bigger than the state, dates back to 1812.

This sesquicentennial was observed in 1962, when I helped prepare a joint Granite City-Alton-Edwardsville commemorative newspaper edition.

Those who want to note the completion of our county's second century can do so in 2012. If that's too far away, circle 1968 on your calendar; that will be Granite City's 100th anniversary.

Alton has been celebrating its 150th year with events this summer. It's a fine time to drop the word "sesquicentennial" into your conversation to impress your friends.

At one time, Alton had a bigger population than St. Louis.

On the topic of celebrations, St. Louis observed its annual "strassenfest" German-American outting during July's final weekend.

Not to be outdone, Germantown will hold its traditional "spassfest" Aug. 15 and 16, lasting from 11 a.m. to midnight each day.

Germantown, which attracted its first German settlers in the Regional Roundup

By Bill Winter

early 1830s, is located on Illinois 161 in Clinton County, east of Interstate 64.

The sponsors promise German music, German food, German costumes and, we would guess, German beer.

A little closer to home is Edwardsville, where Daryel's Family Hair Care is offering Ollie North haircuts for $8.

Collection of overdue state taxes in Illinois has increased 500 percent.

Has the level of honesty taken a sudden uptrend? Sure. In addition, a new law has given Illinois Department of Revenue agents greater power to seize assets and close businesses that have refused to pay.

Under "Operation Padlock," revenue agents have teamed with sheriff deputies and state policemen to seize restaurants, taverns, gasoline stations, grocery stores and car dealerships.

Meanwhile, East Alton authorities seized two pit bulls in response to complaints from neighbors about the dogs.

What concerns senior citizens? According to the American Association of Retired Persons, current issues are:

Lower health-care costs; preserving Social Security, making the system fairer and stronger; ending age discrimination, enabling job opportunities to expand; enlightening and reforming Medicare and Medicaid; more, and more affordable, housing for the elderly; lower federal deficits; safe streets; a cleaner environment; and a better quality of life for all Americans.

One of their goals may be partially met soon; federal legislators are ironing out details of a bill to help meet the cost of catastrophic illnesses.

The football Cardinals, embroiled in a city-vs-county battle over stadium plans, won't be winding up their pre-season practices at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

They said they found no major fault with SIUE but opted to go to Memphis, Tenn., because of facilities there designed especially for a professional football team. A stadium was built for World Football's Memphis Showboats, whose league folded before the team ever had a chance to use it.

Babysitting class slated

Regular monthly programs offered by Anderson Hospital, Maryville, in August will begin with a babysitting class on Aug. 1.

This class teaches basic childcare skills and provides tips on babysitting. Class size is limited and open only to those who are 12 years of age or older. Registration is required.

Other August programs include the Early Pregnancy Class, Monday, Aug. 5. Topics to be discussed in this course designed for women in the early stages of pregnancy include diet, exercise, fetal development and body changes. The September meeting of the Early Pregnancy Class will be held at the Hospital on Aug. 31. The meeting has been moved up one week due to the Labor Day holiday.

Sharing Parents, a monthly support group for grieving and newly bereaved parents, will meet on Tuesday, Aug. 4. This group provides support by encouraging grieving parents to share their feelings with other parents who have had the same experience. Friends and family members are invited to attend. People Needing People, a monthly bereavement support group, will meet on Tuesday, Aug. 11.

A monthly support group for those who are or shortly expect to be parents of twins will meet Monday, Aug. 17. The Parenting Workshop, a program covering a wide variety of childcare topics, will be held Monday, Aug. 24. The August program will be conducted by pediatrician Dr. Angela Bard.

Share, an open forum discussion support group which addresses common concerns of women who have undergone mastectomy surgery, will not meet in August and will resume its monthly meetings in September.

For further information on these events, including times, fees (if any), meeting locations and registration, or to have a monthly calendar of events mailed, persons may contact the education office at 288-5711.

BART SOLON

President
Q. I was recently asked by a friend for permission to name me as his executor. I wonder if you could tell me a little of what might be expected of an executor.

A. An executor is, in essence, the financial manager of an estate. The duties are varied, and depend largely upon the size of the estate. Generally, it is the duty of an executor to collect and inventory assets, to determine debts and claims against the estate, to determine and pay all taxes and distribute assets to beneficiaries and to manage the estate during settlement. These are very broad headings, and each may include a number of items. This very short description may also paint a picture that a lot of very detailed, time consuming legal and financial work will be required. This is the reason many persons, after consulting with their legal counsel, choose to name as their executor someone who is professional in the field. It would be a good idea for both you and your friend to talk to your attorney and a bank officer in our Trust Department before making the final decision as to the designation of an executor. As the Executor of your Will, we would use the services of your attorney for legal matters relating to the administration of your estate.

Help your child have safe, happy summer

The Illinois State Police are offering some tips for children, according to Capt. Bobby L. Henry Sr., commander of District 11, Collinsville.

Teach your child: his full name, address, telephone number and your name; how to make emergency telephone calls; about safety measures in a calm manner and let them know they can come to you with any problem; use the buddy system when playing, walking to and from school, the store or to a friend's house; not to personalize clothing, because a stranger might use the name to become familiar with your child; to set up a code word that may be used if you are not able to pick your child up from school; and train your child never to talk to strangers, get near a stranger, or go anywhere with a stranger or help a stranger.

For more information, contact Sgt. David J. Jurek, public information officer, or Trooper Patti McDaniel, child safety officer of the Illinois State Police, District 11, Collinsville, at 352-1212.

Illinois State Fair adds to entertainment list

The Illinois State Fair has added Richard Marx, with the current hit "Don't Mean Nothing," to the list of Grandstand acts to appear Aug. 13-23.

Thompson appointed to infant deaths group

Gov. James R. Thompson has been appointed to serve on the National Commission to Prevent Infant Mortality, which will make recommendations to Congress and the president on ways to reduce and prevent infant mortality.

"In the 10 years from 1975 to 1985, the infant mortality rate in Illinois dropped from 18.4 per 1,000 births to 11.5," said Thompson.

"Our goal is to see that figure at 9.0 by 1990."

'Operation Padlock' seizes shops, yacht

'Operation Padlock,' a program that seizes assets and closes businesses of those who refuse to pay their taxes, collected $2 million last year, an increase of 500 percent from the previous year, said Illinois Department of Revenue Director Roger D. Sweet.

A record number of 470 accounts were in the seizure program during the state's fiscal year. Only 70 accounts were actually seized. The rest paid up after receiving 10-day warning letters.

Some businesses owners have paid thousands of dollars on the spot when law enforcement officials and revenue agents showed up to seize assets. The types of businesses seized include restaurants, taverns, gas stations, grocery stores, car dealerships and retail stores. Assets seized include luxury and sports cars, a yacht and an airplane.

During the pendency of a lawsuit, the attorney for the defendant may wish to take the plaintiff's deposition. In a deposition, the party being deposed answers questions under oath before a court reporter. Frequently deponents inquire about the importance of the answers given in the deposition.

Attorneys take depositions for several reasons. In the first place, the attorney is able to gather information about the case from the answers to questions. In addition, the testimony given in a deposition can be used for impeachment purposes. This means that at trial the attorney can use the testimony in the deposition to show any contradictions between trial testimony and the sworn statement given in the deposition.

Finally, several Illinois cases stand for the proposition that assertions made in a deposition constitute binding judicial admissions. This means that the testimony in a deposition can be used as a basis for a motion for summary judgment. If a court grants a summary judgment, the judge decides that there is no genuine issue of material fact and that a trial is unnecessary.

In one recent case, a man was employed by the U.S. Postal Service for 12 years when he fell from a loading dock. He eventually filed suit against the architect of the loading dock.

The postal worker claimed in his deposition that he fell over rubber bumper strips which were used to prevent hand trucks from sliding off the loading dock. He apparently meant to say that he tripped over metal plates which were lowered electrically into trucks to aid loading. The company he sued manufactured the metal plates rather than the rubber bumper strips.

The attorney for the defendant filed a motion for summary judgment, asserting that his client neither designed the rubber bumper strips nor supervised their construction. The attorney for the plaintiff responded to this motion by submitting an affidavit indicating that his client had returned to the accident site, and he now realized that he had tripped over metal plates rather than rubber bumpers. The Court granted the motion for summary judgment, noting that the plaintiff had stated clearly in his deposition that he tripped over rubber bumper strips. In this case, the plaintiff failed to recover money for his injuries due to his confusion in the deposition.

Lambert potential assessed as airport traffic increases

(First of a series)

Lambert St. Louis International Airport has experienced tremendous growth in the past decade and may undergo many changes in the years ahead.

Lambert is the sixth busiest airport in the country, serving more than 400,000 passengers last year.

Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) officials said it's difficult to predict the effects of passenger increase. They agree that by the year 2000, Lambert will experience more flights and ultimately a decrease in efficiency if steps are not taken to control airport traffic.

Airport Director Gen. Donald W. Bennett said his primary goal is to maintain a safe, efficient airport despite the estimated increase in air traffic.

Bennett recently hired Campbell Design, a local consulting firm, and Landrum & Brown Associates, a Chicago-based engineering firm, to develop a master plan to assess Lambert's needs and growth potential for the next 40 years.

The plan will determine the feasibility and cost implications of Lambert expansion. Bennett said he hopes to receive the plan within the next 18 months.

Bennett said the changes in store for Lambert in coming years may be as drastic as constructing a new airport at a different site or as minimal as adding a runway at the current location.

Bennett said that although the once proposed Waterloo/Columbia, Ill., site is no longer being considered, construction of an airport at a new location is still possible.

He declined to speculate further on the possibility of building a new airport until the master plan is complete.

Other changes designed to increase the efficiency of Lambert include the recently installed LDA (Localizer Directional Aid) landing system, a highly technical landing instrument which allows two planes to land on parallel runways at the same time.

Bill Beehan, FAA spokesman, said the LDA system increases Lambert's capacity by 30 aircraft per hour. He added that Lambert is one of only three airports in the country which currently use the new system.

Also new to Lambert is the east terminal. The 18,000-square-foot terminal includes five gates and more than 200 additional parking spaces.

Lambert officials say the new terminal relieves the congestion caused by the increase in air traffic. However, more gates and parking facilities will be needed to keep up with the passenger increase, Bennett said.

Other improvements include resurfacing aircraft parking areas and taxiways.

Tom Richter, Lambert planning and engineering spokesman, said a taxiway was recently converted into a runway for small aircraft. The runway relieves some congestion at the longer strips and is designed for private planes and small commercial air traffic, he said.

Richter also said a major highway project is in the works for Interstate 70, the primary access highway to Lambert. He said the plan would relieve much of the traffic on the south side of the airport by providing direct access through a Cypress Road annex.

Construction could begin as soon as next year, Richter said.

Other efforts to deal with the passenger increase will be considered after the results of the master plan are reviewed, Bennett said.

Bennett takes on Lambert

Although he has only been on the job for four months, Gen. Donald Bennett has some definite ideas about Lambert St. Louis International Airport.

A 34-year veteran of the Air Force, he replaced Col. Leonard Griggs as airport director in late March. Already, Bennett is working on a master plan that will study the future development needs and expansion capabilities of Lambert into the 21st century.

Expansion of current airport facilities, from parking to personnel, will largely depend on Bennett's assessment of the plan. Campbell Design, a local consulting firm, and Landrum & Brown, a Chicago-based engineering firm, have been hired to develop the master plan. A final report is expected in about 18 months.

"I don't know what the plan will say yet. I have some ideas, but where (Lambert) is headed will depend on the findings of the plan," Bennett said. Until then, Bennett said, he will concentrate on making the most of current facilities.

So far, he has tackled the recurring problems of flight delays and airport congestion and has even attempted a solution to the lack of county representation on the airport commission.

Bennett said a boon to Lambert was the merger of TWA and Ozark Air Lines. Combining the airlines' flight schedules afforded passengers a better on-time rate, according to Lambert statistics.

"They (Ozark and TWA) were trying to schedule competitively; they were coming and going at the same time," Bennett said.

He said TWA's delay rate since the merger has decreased dramatically.

"It (the merger) has lessened congestion and ultimately helped the passenger," Bennett said. "It was something that needed to take place for St. Louis."

Bennett said airport officials have recently been in contact with airline companies negotiating gate space and hub service.

However, Bennett said, he is satisfied with the two private airline companies (Midwest Aviation and Sabreliner) that use Lambert as their hub.

"Any more FBOs (fixed based operators) and our level of services would decrease," Bennett said.

He said several commercial airline companies have expressed interest in expanding service in and out of Lambert, but any additional commitments would not come until the master plan is complete.

Bennett has been interested in the issue of appointment of an ex-officio member to the airport commission.

During Griggs' administration, St. Louis County officials grumbled that the county was unfavorably represented on airport matters because the members of the commission were St. Louis city residents.

Lambert is owned by the city; thus, by city ordinance, airport board members must be residents of St. Louis. Bennett said the proposed ex-officio member would not have a vote, but would provide a county voice in airport discussions.

"It (allowing a county resident to vote) would require a change in the city charter," he said, proposing that. "I don't want the (county) member's input and I want that person to feel welcome."

Granite City (Ill.) Press-Record, Thursday, July 30, 1987 — 1B

Lincoln words apply to TV hearings

Television coverage of the Inra-Contra hearings has prompted some to call Lieut. Col. Oliver North a hero.

I do not question Col. North's sincerity nor his patriotism. But he is not an American hero.

No one deserves the hero's rank who admits that he lied, shredded evidence and violated the laws of our nation he swore to uphold.

Our heroes should be those who live within the law and serve the public. They are people who are often unsung for their devotion to duty: public servants like teachers, librarians, police officers and firemen.

Col. North, the President, the attorney general, members of the House and Senate and the public would be wise to listen to the message of a 28-year-old state legislator serving in Springfield, Ill. In January 1938, he said:

"Let every American, every lover of liberty, every well-wisher to his posterity, swear by the blood of the (American) revolution never to violate in the least particular the laws of this country; and never to tolerate their violation by others..."

P.S.

By Paul Simon
U.S. Senator

"Let every man remember that to violate the laws is to trample upon the blood of his father and to tear the charter of his own and his children's liberty. Let reverence for the laws... become the political religion of the nation and let the old and the young, the rich and the poor, the grave and the gay, of all sexes and tongues and colors and conditions sacrifice unceasingly upon its altar."

These words, from the pen and tongue of Abraham Lincoln, are as important today as they were then.

At that point Lincoln was commenting on mob action that took the law into its hands and killed a newspaper editor who opposed slavery.

Neither the mob in the 1830s nor high-ranking public officials in the 1980s should violate the law. Abraham Lincoln was right in 1838 and he is right today.

Phone calls, letters and telegrams have poured into my office from people expressing their opinions about Col. North. People admire Col. North's devotion to country. Devotion and patriotism are admirable characteristics.

But more important than the laudable personal characteristics of one person are larger issues: the accountability of government officeholders to the people, and respect for the law.

One woman from Elgin sent this telegram: "As a citizen of the United States I am very appreciative of the way in which the Congress is conducting the investigation into the Inra-Contra affair. I particularly appreciate the efforts to help Col. North understand that he is not above the law."

That is not only true for him. It is true for you and me, for those in the highest positions and those in the lowliest.

Disagrees with Simon on Japanese issue

To the editor:

With all due respect to Paul Simon, an honorable senator who is both honest and conscientious, I must "stand up" for the action taken by our government to exclude persons of Japanese descent from our West Coast "red zones."

Slightly more than 110,000 persons of Japanese descent were excluded from the western half of Washington, Oregon and Arizona and the entire state of California.

However, to describe these 110,000 as "Japanese-Americans" is to give American citizenship retroactively to 90 percent of the adults who were actually Japanese nationals and thereby alien enemies of the United States following the bombing of Pearl Harbor.

Contrary to the beliefs of many, American citizenship was not extended to Issei (born in Japan) due to a U.S. law, but rather through a treaty with the emperor of Japan who required that all persons of Japanese descent register as Japanese subjects and citizens of Japan.

Following Pearl Harbor, and by Congressional Act, the United States extended the right of citizenship to any alien enemy who would work for the war effort. However, when it came to fighting against Japan (the emperor), it was understandable that only a comparative handful of Issei were willing to gain citizenship by this means.

There was no "internment" ever of an American citizen. Only alien enemies with proven charges can be interned in the Department of Justice Internment Camp.

Internment means automatic deportation and the U.S. never "deported" American citizens. Nor did the United States deny habeas corpus to Japanese-Americans, thereby allowing test cases for curfew and exclusion to be decided by our courts.

The only body that can decide what is constitutionally correct is our U.S. Supreme Court. And in its 6-3 affirmative decision, the U.S. Supreme Court upheld E.O. 9066, Feb. 19, 1942, as "nothing more than an exclusion order" and that "neither in fact nor by law" were evacuees required to go from an assembly center to a relocation center, and many thousands did not.

In fact, several hundred persons of Japanese descent unaffected by the order, and who resided in midwest and eastern states, asked to voluntarily reside in a relocation center for the duration of the war.

Of course, Sen. Simon's father had no way of knowing that the best kept secret of the war was the breaking of the Japanese codes, cover-named MAGIC. The codes had been broken before Pearl Harbor, and revealed that there were, indeed, "fifth column" activities up and down the West Coast.

These activities, clearly documented in recently declassified papers under the broadened Freedom of Information Act, showed that first- and second-generation Japanese (aliens and American citizens) were counted on to assist the Empire of Japan.

Documents from the Office of Naval Intelligence show that some American citizens in the armed forces were actually working for the Japanese government.

So secret was MAGIC, that only President Franklin Roosevelt and his selected top advisors knew about it.

Sen. Daniel Inouye, writing the foreword to W.J. Holmes' book, "Double-Edged Secrets," admitted that had it not been for MAGIC and the decipherers, the United States would have been endangered.

In his words: "It is a tribute to the courageous and brilliant men whose work was so secret that they could not be recognized, and whose contribution was so vital. It is no exaggeration to say that without it the Pacific conflict might have been waged on the coast of California."

Americans of Japanese descent were not denied Constitutional protection. Of course we protect aliens in peacetime, but the constitutional guarantees are not extended to alien enemies (Japanese nationals).

Under international and national law, the U.S. had the right to intern all enemy aliens and confiscate all properties. The U.S. is the only nation at war that did not automatically do this.

Kiyooki Murata, the last Japanese alien to come to the United States as a student before the war, was an evacuee who left the relocation center to finish his education during the war. He was in Chicago, along with hundreds of other J-A's who spent the war at colleges and universities.

When Mr. Murata (the retired editor of The Japan Times, Tokyo), read the "findings and recommendations" of the Commission on Wartime Relocation, he wrote a column printed Dec. 16, 1983, in Pacific Citizen. He wrote:

"The recent attempt to portray the World War II relocation of persons of Japanese descent as a travesty of justice is a falsification of history... The Commission report is... biased and unfair... Its purpose was to condemn the U.S. government's actions and recommend payment to the 'victims'."

As our U.S. Supreme Court's opinion in Korematsu v. U.S., 323 U.S. 214 (1945), stated, "There were disloyalties, and we must place our confidence in our military in time of war and allow the military to wage war successfully. Citizenship has its responsibilities as well as its privileges."

Surely one cannot categorize as "horrible" a deed which resulted in the highest live-birth rate in the USA during WW II (6,000 births); the lowest incidence of disease; and almost 4,000 J-A's educated at universities, thus having a jump on returning G.I's.

When the war ended, the Japanese-American Citizens League held two testimonial dinners honoring the director and staff of the War Relocation Authority for the humane treatment and understanding of the plight of the evacuees.

The exclusion was not only for national security and public safety, but for the safety of the Japanese themselves. Yes, it was a shame it had to happen, but there was nothing shameful in the deed.

I suggest that Sen. Simon and the American public read the testimony given by qualified witnesses with documentation to sustain the above comments.

Resignation deprives voters of choice for school board

Alan Crider's resignation from the Granite City School Board is an insult and a blessing.

The blessing—He's out of the school system, at least for now. He produced little of value for the district, and instead helped create a negative image for the district, particularly when he applied for a district job while still a board member.

The insult—The timing of his resignation means his replacement does not have to run in the November election. On the same night Crider resigned, board President Kelly Hogan suggested Ranney Rich as a replacement. Rich had never held office, and yet the majority of the board voted him in without seeking input from others who might have wanted the job, including the five non-members who seek a School Board seat in the November election.

Many persons knew in advance that Crider would quit. Several called the newspaper to say the resignation would be timed to avoid the election. They named Rich as Crider's replacement before the board chose him in public.

Though members of the public knew what was going to occur, on the day before Crider's resignation some board members said they didn't know about the resignation and, amazingly, Rich said he didn't know. Crider wouldn't return phone calls.

Those who called the newspaper were correct—Crider resigned.

Callers now have something else to say—that Crider will get a job in this school district, if not before the election, certainly after if sympathetic candidates are elected.

This School Board is capable of hiring friends rather than the most qualified persons for jobs. District Superintendent Max Redmond said so, he wouldn't agree to it, and last year he paid the price for his honesty when the board forced him out of the school district. It would surprise no one if Crider gets a district job.

The public can do nothing about the timing of Crider's resignation, and next to nothing if the board decides to give him a job now or after the November election. But whatever the board has done or will do, the public will have its day on Nov. 3.

Board President Hogan and member Jo Ann Macios want to be re-elected. But Hogan is among those who wanted Redmond out, and voted Rich in for Crider's job. Macios said prior to Crider's resignation that she didn't know he planned to quit.

If Hogan and Macios didn't know that Crider planned to resign and didn't realize what the timing meant, as members of the public did, then Hogan and Macios are too out of touch to represent the public.

If they did know the crucial nature of the timing and didn't publicly speak out against it—and they didn't speak out—then they've betrayed the public.

In either case, they don't deserve another term as public representatives.

Medical quality upgraded

The 1987 General Assembly session obviously was not perfect; revenue wrangling is an example of the controversies. But a major accomplishment was enactment of a new Medical Practice Act licensing, disciplining and setting standards for 25,000 doctors. It places heavy emphasis on high-quality medical care.

With physicians themselves generating many of the improvements in the law, it is receiving widespread praise. Among other changes, it increases the residency training requirement for prospective doctors from one to two years, after which full Illinois licensure can be sought.

Included in the new law are seven reforms to tighten up medical discipline:

—Stronger and broader grounds for discipline, including a more detailed definition of malpractice.

—Creation of fines to penalize doctors for inappropriate business practices that inconvenience but don't harm patients.

—A longer statute of limitations to allow investigators more time to build and prosecute cases.

—Greater access to patient medical records by state authorities, without jeopardizing patient confidentiality.

—Deputized review panels of physicians to help the state review complaints.

—Requiring hospitals to aggressively search out any previous action taken against a doctor's license, before admission to the hospital staff.

—And better coordination with other agencies and states to track disciplinary actions and identities of offenders.

Geography? What's that?

When the topic is geography, listen to the National Geographic Society, which prints all those yellow-bordered magazines with fine photographs. What we hear is disturbing.

NGS findings about high school students' knowledge of geography include:

In Dallas, 25 percent cannot identify the country bordering the United States on the south. In Boston, 39 percent cannot name six New England states. In Minneapolis, 63 percent cannot name all seven continents. In Kansas City, 40 percent cannot name three South American countries.

The pattern continues at the college level:

In North Carolina, fewer than half of the students know Alaska and Texas are the two largest states in area. In Indiana, 95 percent of freshmen cannot locate Vietnam. And in a world geography class at Fullerton, Calif., 74 percent cannot find El Salvador on a map and nearly half cannot find Japan.

Letters

More darts from Partney

To the editor:

In response to Mayor Von Dee Cruse's comments in the Granite City Press-Record/Journal on July 26, 1987, I would like to make the following response:

First, I believe the time has come to clear up some issues concerning the testing program of the former Granite City Board of Fire and Police Commissioners, on which I had the honor to serve as chairman.

Mayor Von Dee Cruse and some of his political friends have seen fit to try and discredit myself and allege wrongdoing on my part concerning this matter, because tests were mailed to my residence. If Mayor Cruse had been better informed about this issue, he would know the following fact:

I.P.M.A. standard test security agreement states:

Article III — It is agreed that the individual who signs this agreement will be authorized to order I.P.M.A. test material and will be the one to whom such material is sent.

Article V — A Civil Service Commission (or Police and Fire Commission). Principal signer should be the President/Chairperson of the Commission.

All test material came to me as the chairman based on the agreement I signed with the testing service.

To further back this up, in March 1986 I requested that tests concerning new entrants on the Granite City Police Department be mailed to Dr. Harold Johnson, Belleville Area College, who the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners was starting to use as our testing officer. The testing agency refused to mail these tests to Dr. Johnson, because it was not as per our agreement. The tests were mailed to my residence and delivered to Dr. Johnson.

Second — Mayor Cruse states in the July 26, 1987, issue of the Granite City Press-Record/Journal, "Those patrolmen were never praised for their scores, though others who have scored well at the state level were honored." Again, if Mayor Cruse was better informed about this issue, he would know that there are thousands of testing services in the United States.

Each local board chooses which agency they want to use and are also entitled to make up their own tests, if they desire. If there was a program for recognition that the mayor speaks of, our board was not aware of it.

If we would have been aware of this program, these two officers would have been recommended for recognition. In the past, other officers on our department achieved higher scores than these two officers in question without being so honored.

I think it is important to note that these two officers in Granite City scored the highest out of only 526 people taking this partial test across the country. Also, I think it is a shame that the mayor has not shown recognition to these officers instead of saying their scores needed to be investigated. You would think the mayor would be proud of these officers' accomplishments.

Third — Mayor Cruse states in the July 26, 1987, issue he "thought the public should have known before the election about the test scores, but he didn't want to give the appearance of trying to gain a political advantage from the information by releasing it before the election." The date of Feb. 14, 1986, is on the letter to Mr. John Hopkins that the mayor felt obligated to leak to the newspaper in April 1987.

According to the date on the letter from the testing service, the investigation of the test given on July 13, 1986, had lain dormant for 16 months. Suddenly, when the city administration felt threatened by Dan Partney's election, it began to actively pursue an investigation that was 16 months old.

In the April 30, 1987, issue of the Press-Record/Journal, Hopkins said, "There's nothing definite that came out of this one way or another." This period of time from Feb. 14, 1986, until April 30, 1987, is 14 months.

Then, all of the sudden in a matter of five weeks, April 30, 1987, until June 5, 1987, after the mayor leaked information to the newspaper, Mr. Hopkins had all the evidence he needed to go to the state's attorney.

Fourth — The Press-Record/Journal on April 30, 1987, stated, "Reporting suspected cheating is proper, said Mayor Von Dee Cruse on Wednesday. The mayor said he'd heard some time back about there being a problem, but figured it was the normal grumbling of employees who didn't get a promotion."

"I'd heard some rumors about cheating at that time that I was really concerned with."

Then again on June 11, 1987, Mayor Cruse states in the Press-Record/Journal "he knows nothing about DCI being asked to investigate because he does not want to be accused of being involved in a politically motivated attempt to injure 4th Ward Alderman Dan Partney, a possible mayoral contender in 1988."

"I don't want to know anything about it. That way I can't be accused of anything."

"It's completely in the hands of John Hopkins (assistant city attorney)."

These statements were made by the mayor, after he already had given the paper the correspondence from the testing service, to bring this matter to the forefront in the newspaper.

Fifth and final — Mayor Cruse in the July 19, 1987, issue of the Press-Record/Journal stated, "In the meantime, it shouldn't be tried in the media." Now we learn from the July 26, 1987, edition of the Press-Record/Journal Mayor Cruse is the individual who started this media campaign concerning the testing issue.

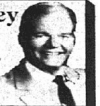

Up until now, Mayor Cruse has hid himself in a closet of lies about this information leaked to the newspaper.

By the mayor's disclosure now that he leaked the information to the newspaper on this matter, and the manner that he demonstrated by his devious actions, he contributed greatly to the poor morale problems in the Granite City Police Department.

By doing this, he has breached the public's trust and abused his position as a public official. What do you think?

Police auction off a miracle

This year at the police auction in Kansas City, there were many bicycles.

The very first bicycle that came up, when the auctioneer asked who'd start the bidding — a young man right down in front said, "Five dollars." Tiny youngster — 10 — maybe 12.

"I've got five, will you give me 10, will you give me 10? Ten, who'll bid 15?"

This goes on through several bicycles. Each time the boy bid $5; never more.

During a brief intermission, the auctioneer sought out the young lad and asked why he had let some of those good bikes sell without bidding higher and the lad explained that $5 was all he had.

Back to the auction — in the police garage — there were some more cameras and some CB radios and more bicycles.

On each somebody else bid $5 more.

The crowd began to notice the boy who always opened the bidding...

They began to recognize what was happening...

The auction after a tedious hour and a half was about to end.

There was one more bicycle — a dandy, a shiny, like-new 10-speed with 27-inch wheels.

The auctioneer described the bicycle... dual position brake levers, stem shifters, generator light set.

Then the auctioneer asked, "Do I hear a bid?"

And the young lad near the front — who'd by now all but given up — quietly repeated: "Five dollars."

And the auctioneer stopped his chant. Just stopped. Stood there.

And the audience sat silent, until the auctioneer said, "Sold to the young man in the shorts and sneakers — for $5!"

The crowd applauded.

And a small boy's face lit up like one of the most beautiful sights you ever saw — as he traded the $5 crumpled up in his sweaty, folded fist for what was surely the most beautiful bicycle in the world.

Was resigning of chief a surprise?

After weeks of allegations, innuendos, political fueding between factions in the city, and morale problems in the Police Department, Chief of Police Bill Harris, who was appointed to the position by Mayor Von Dee Cruse in May 1985, abruptly resigned the post last week. Was his resignation a surprise to you?

Bob Juracek,
Granite City

"I don't know that much about the Police Department, but... he should... (have) resigned."

Ron Shafer,
Pontoon Beach

"Yes, I thought he was a good man and he did a good job, but I think when he gave the names of the officers (who he alleged were using drugs) it put a lot of internal pressure on him and he had a lot of political pressure on him, too."

Rich Knowlton,
Granite City

"It is a surprise. I didn't know him personally, but I have a few friends who know him and they said he did a pretty good job. For his own good it was probably wasn't a bad idea."

Travel

Europe regaining popularity but Mexico best buy

By Lucyann Boston
Journal correspondent

You might not have heard, but Europe is back. Not that the continent ever packed up and went anywhere during the last 185 million years or so. About 12 months ago, though, most Americans were acting as if it had.

Airline hijackings and threats of violence kept most citizens of the United States on this side of the Atlantic when their vacation time came. But this summer, area travel agents say, bookings to Europe are on the rise.

"In 1986 we anticipated that 25 percent of our bookings would be international," says Peggy Tooley, regional manager of Famous-Barr World Travel, a division of Unifours of California. "We lost that. In 1987 we have not seen full recovery but we have seen a tremendous increase. European travel is up 10 to 15 percent."

Popular destinations in Europe include the British Isles, Scandinavia and Frankfurt, Germany.

"Scandinavia is an alternative site for people who want to avoid the center of Europe," says Tooley, who adds that she is seeing "a little bit of avoidance of France, probably related to Visa applications (now required for visits to that country) that make it impossible for last-minute travel arrangements, and some fear over bombings."

Mexico offers the best foreign travel values, most agents agree. Bargains are available due to the favorable peso to dollar ratio and the availability of low air fares.

"Cancun is a very popular destination simply because there is good charter service out of St. Louis," says John Lang of Travel Express.

The agents also rank cruises as an excellent way to get the most for your foreign vacation dollar.

"In some ways they represent the best the best dollar value because by staying on the ship and traveling from port to port, everything—your hotel, meals and entertainment—is included," says Laurie Althen, an agent for Huffman Travel.

"In fact cruising has become such an expanding business that the cruise companies are building ships so big they're even counteracting the concerns of people who think they won't get enough exercise or will eat too much by building ships with fitness centers and offering special, health conscious diets."

While not in the category of popular vacation destinations, most travel agents report the increasing interest in trips to the Orient.

When it comes to vacation destinations in this country, where area residents use the services of a travel agent, Florida is probably the most popular stop, particularly for family vacations.

"Air fares to Florida offer the biggest price breaks for children 2 to 17 traveling with families," said Connie Messmer, owner of the south St. Louis County office of Travel Express.

Short trips to Las Vegas and more lengthy Hawaiian vacations also rank high on the list of domestic destinations.

A big booster of Hawaii, Lang says the islands' popularity continues year after year because there is no better spot for fun and recreation, because it's part of America and because it is paradise.

While destinations such as Hawaii and the British Isles may top the list of sought-after vacation sites, there are a number of other good travel spots that often are overlooked, say the agents.

Following is a list of agents' favorite destinations and some tips on how to get the most for each trade dollar.

"Canada. There is good dollar value and no language problem," says Althen. "The eastern Maritime Provinces, especially Prince Edward Island, are beautiful, so is western Canada and the Canadian rail service is wonderful."

"Jamaica. The island is beautiful and the air fare is lower than fares to the rest of the Caribbean," says Tom Dooley, a partner in Premier Travel Planners of Florissant. "The all-inclusive resorts are very popular, because people can leave on vacation knowing exactly what the trip is going to cost them. While there, they can relax and have fun."

"Santo Domingo. 'Casa de Campo' is a wonderful all-inclusive resort that many people overlook because they haven't discovered the Dominican Republic," advises Bonnie Porter of Bonnie Trips Unlimited in St. Charles. "It's a beautiful place and the resort offers good value."

"Yugoslavia. 'It's a beautiful country and everyone who goes there absolutely falls in love with it,' says Althen. "It's a pretty good travel buy and we've begun promoting it as a European travel destination."

"Alaska. To take in the maximum of the beautiful scenery, Lang suggests at least a one-way cruise through the Inland Passage coupled with a jaunt into the interior of the country."

"Australia. We're seeing a lot more interest in Australia, particularly because of the good air fare arrangements that allow stopovers," says Althen. "You can see places such as Fiji, New Zealand and Hawaii all on one air ticket."

"Kenya. 'There is good value for the dollar value; it's really a bargain,' says Althen. "The tours are all inclusive. They take you to the interior and you can stay in lodges and even tent camps but they furnish all the amenities. They are really well done. People who are worried about racial problems should know that Kenya is hundreds of miles from trouble and is politically stable."

"People who are interested in good dollar value in Europe should look into Ireland, Spain and Portugal, the agents say. And they should let their agent do as much as possible to make the trip smooth, no matter where they are going."

"We can even arrange for theater tickets in London before people leave this country," says Althen. "A lot of people like to see shows there because prices are much lower than they are in New York."

Museum chronicles computers

By Tom and Joanne O'Toole
Journal correspondent

With the arrival of the computer age it was inevitable that there would eventually be a museum to highlight its progress.

The first museum in the world tracing the history of the computer revolution is at Museum Wharf, just minutes from Boston's financial district.

A large glass-enclosed elevator on the front of the building takes visitors to the sixth floor, where the exhibit begins with the largest computer ever built—the Air Force's computer for the radar early warning system. Visitors then walk down to the fifth floor, the major exhibit area covering the history of computing from 1950.

Although the museum houses an extensive collection of computer artifacts and historically significant technology on many levels of the former waterfront warehouse, there also are exhibits chronicling the evolution of personal computers, along with an entire gallery devoted to computer graphics and image processing.

Visitors can experiment with computers. They can punch away at a vintage keypunch machine, create designs on a graphics terminal and alter the computer image of their faces. However, the latter improvement lasts only as long as someone remains in front of the computer screen.

Hands-on computers also allow visitors to paint a picture, compose a melody, design a car, create a snowflake and even program a computer to say their name.

The only frustration with the hands-on displays is that kids have an insatiable appetite for experimenting, and never get up for adults to have their chance at a little fun. When asked to make way for us, our child glanced at us and said, "You wouldn't be able to figure it out anyway."

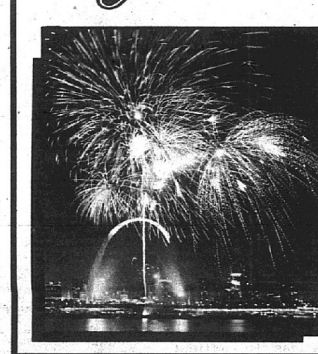

From the re-creations of vintage computer installations through interactive exhibits, the museum illustrates the impact of the information revolution. The exhibits, displays, film clips, tapes and hand-on models can be a little mystifying — to say nothing of being intimidating. But devoted computer buffs won't want to miss the museum store with such items as computer candy (what did you expect?), microcircuit jewelry and books on computer technology.

The museum is open from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Wednesday, Saturday and Sunday and 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. Thursday and Friday. Admission is $4 for adults, $2 for students and senior citizens, except for after 5 p.m. Friday when there is no admission charge. The museum is closed Mondays, Tuesdays, Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's Day.

For a brochure and other information write to the Computer Museum on Museum Wharf, 300 Congress Street, Boston, Mass. 02210, or call 617-426-2890. If you're in Boston, recorded information is free by dialing 423-6758.

NINE CONVENIENT METRO-EAST LOCATIONS • OPEN 10-10 DAILY

Forister selected for Special Olympics

Denise "Dee Dee" Forister, daughter of Melvin George and Rose Rife of Madison, is one of four Metro East residents who will be among 4,600 to participate in the International Special Olympics July 31-Aug. 7 in South Bend, Ind.

The others are Sharon Parent, Freeburg; Tim Redstone, Granite City; and Charles Johnson, Dupu.

The Special Olympics are patterned after the original Olympic games. Athletes from 50 states and 50 countries will compete. Forister will be in the swimming category.

Among the celebrities to be on hand are Arnold Schwarzenegger, Whitney Houston and Susan St. James. Eunice Kennedy Shriver, president of America's Special Olympics, will open the weeklong competition. The event will begin in Chicago, with a ceremony at Soldier's Field featuring the traditional lighting of the torch. The competitors will then be the guests of the Chicago Cubs at a baseball game. The Olympics are held every four years, and competitors can only participate one time. Forister's mother will be in attendance at the events.

St. Stanislaus Lodge 1064 will sponsor its annual barbecue on Aug. 8 at the Polish Hall, 826 Greenwood St., Madison.

Andy Besserman is chairman of the event. Chicken and pork steak sandwiches and dinners will be served and carryouts will be available. Serving in the dining room is from noon to 4 p.m.

A dance will be held in the evening, beginning at 6:30 p.m., with music by the Remede Polka Band. Admission will be $2 for adults and $1 for high school age, with children under 12 free.

Plans are also under way for the annual Halloween Dance to be held Oct. 24 for the benefit of the Polish Dance Troupe. The annual children's Christmas party will be Dec. 20 and a New Year's Eve dance, with the Remede Band, will be Dec. 31. Stan Serwacki is president of the lodge.

Madison Explorer Post 10-4 voted three members into the Order of the Arrow. Participating in ceremonies, held at Camp Sunnen in Potosi, Mo., the weekend of July 2, were Gary Marsala Jr., post vice president; Brian Dohnal, post treasurer; and William Horn, post master-at-arms.

Others attending the tap-out Thursday evening were Donald Graham, post president; Gary Marsala Sr., post advisor, and wife, Jennifer; William Fox, Scouting coordinator, and wife, Gina, and post members, Jerry Carly, Charles Graham, Thomas Morrison and Ed Dohnal.

On Friday, the three new members participated in maintenance and repair to the roads in Camp Sunnen. In the evening, they were honored with the official inductions into the Order of the Arrow. Each received a sash and patch in recognition of the event.

A bridal shower was hosted by friends and relatives for Christine Stotroff on July 19 at the Madison Recreation Center.

Stotroff will become the bride of Anthony Tsigaloroff of Granite City on Aug. 1 in Decatur, Ill. Parents of the bride are Chris and Betty Stotroff, former Madison residents. Parents of the groom are Philip and Penka Tsigaloroff of Granite City.

Refreshments were served to Fannie Fisk, Helen Mangoff, Mary Thebaud, Ruth Stoyanoff, Mary Pogorelac, Ruth Stoyoff, Sylvia Reeves and Donna Reeves, all of Madison.

Also from Granite City were Ann Barzoff, Dimitra Eitlinoff, Lucille Georger, Ruth Geroff, Mary Nieslor, Miriam Ozanich, Aisy Painter, Margaret Scott, Mattie Stotroff, Bonnie Vaughn, Linda Vaughn, Juanita Calve, Imogene Forrest, Arlene Haldean, Pat Tsigaloroff, Debbie Wagner and MaryAnn Gensert.

Also attending were Jan Barzoff, Creve Coeur, Mo.; Mary Dulant and Alice Konecny, Collinsville; Stephanie Kowalski, Highland Park, Ill.; Sylvia Neitzert, St. Louis; Betty Stotroff and Marge Stotroff, Decatur; Sophie Wallgren, Farmington, Mo.; Delores Byrnes, Troy, Ill.; Martha Dyer, Wordon, Ill.; Jane Stevens, Avon, Ill.; Evelyn Tolliver, Edwardsville; Carol Ward, Mary Neibecker and Toni Newcomer of French Village.

The Ruth Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church in Madison held a class picnic July 21 near the Madison County Nursing Home in Edwardsville in honor of its former Sunday School teacher Jewel Ratliff, a resident of the nursing home.

An evening of fellowship and picture-taking followed a pot luck lunch. Attending were the Rev. and Mrs. Verlin Smith, Vesta Williams, Pansy Grace, Nora Rogers, Marge Purcell, Marge Lewis, Loretta Hill, Gladys Patterson, Fay Little and Altha Lassen. The birthday of Nora Rogers on July 21 and Vesta Williams on July 22 was also celebrated.

The annual Glik picnic was held from 2:30 to 8:30 p.m. July 26 in O'Fallon. Robert (Bob) Glik was chairman of the picnic.

An afternoon of swimming, horseshoes, softball, volleyball and tennis was followed by a cookout and pot luck dinner. Other members of the Glik family present were Joseph, Jeff, Jim and Judy Glik.

Venice-Madison Post and auxiliary install

Installation for officers for Venice-Madison Post 307 American Legion and Auxiliary was held on Saturday, July 18, at the post home in Venice. Dinner preceded the installation with 410 persons attending. Unit 307 Miss Poppy Amanda Foley was presented and gave a speech on the poppy story.

Auxiliary installing officers were Dorothy Hinson of Madison, Department President of Illinois; and Judy Zimmerman of New Douglas, 22nd District president.

American Legion installing officers were all past 22nd District commanders. They were James Egan of East St. Louis, Tom Domino of Collinsville, and Gene Bradtke of Granite City.

Unit 307 officers were: Jane Modrusic, president; Louise Foley, first vice president; Judy Modrusic, second vice president; Dorothy Hinson, secretary; Norma Hillmer, treasurer; Catherine Buechele, historian; Hazel Pozniak, chaplain; and Roseann Koelker, sergeant-at-arms.

Post 307 officers are: Benny Mangiaracino, commander; Kenneth Ross, senior vice commander; Earl Hinson, junior vice commander; Kenneth Hinson, adjutant and historian; Balazs Magyar, finance officer; John Goodrich, chaplain; Bob Hugo, sergeant-at-arms; Louis Martin Jr., service officer; and three executive board members: Andy Hagopian, Tait Varner, and Ike Burns.

Retiring President Lettie Taylor and Retiring Commander Benny Mangiaracino were presented gifts from the membership.

Rehabilitation awards were made to the following Auxiliary members: field service pin to Jan Modrusic, home service cards to: Frances Cowley, Peggy Hinson, Lettie Taylor, Rosetta White, Norma Hillmer and Dorothy Hinson.

American Legion Posts and Auxiliaries present were: Granite City, Cahokia, Collinsville, East St. Louis, Fairmont City, East Alton, Wood River, Smithton, Highland, New Douglas, Granite City and Madison Amvets; Granite City Moose Lodge; Granite City Navy Mothers; O'Fallon Eagles; the Madison County Forty and Eight; the Senior citizens Groups from Madison and Venice.

Duniphans host family reunion

Mr. and Mrs. Elza (Deloris) Duniphan, Jerseyville, Ill., former area residents, hosted a Duniphan family reunion July 19. Forty-one family members and two lifetime friends were present. Three generations were represented, including Leonard Duniphan and seven of his 12 children.

Attending with their families were the host, Elza Duniphan, Jerseyville; Clifford Duniphan of Mitchell; Leda Caldwell and Jewell Benton, both of Jackson; Woodrow Duniphan and Lowell Duniphan, both of Granite City; and Brenda Caudill of St. James, Mo. Also present were friends Lillian Carver of Puxico, Mo., and Lucille Colbert of Mitchell.

The group enjoyed visiting, a backyard barbecue and eating watermelon.

Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Eichhorst of Clarinda, Iowa, were overnight guests in the home of Ralph and Frances Moehle, 5204 Maryville Road, last week. They visited the Jensens' son and daughter, Kristina, Melissa and Billy, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul (Diane) Freeman, all of Lake Jackson.

While in Monroe (the cheese center of the world), they enjoyed local baseball games, swimming, and hiking the Wisconsin hills. Their grandson, Brian, accompanied the Jensens back home. He visited a week before returning home via Dixon, Mo., where his parents met him and his grandparents.

Mr. and Mrs. Hans (Ruth) Jensen, 104 Warsaw Lane, and their granddaughter, Jennifer Colyer, have returned home from Monroe, Wis., where they visited the Jensens' son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Alan (Virginia) Jensen and children Chanda, Brian, Derrick and Katherine.

Present were: Lucy Adams, mother of the bride-to-be, and Patricia Mink, mother of the groom-to-be. Other family members present were: Katie Howard of Highland, Ind.; Mary Wolford of St. Louis; Kathy Mink; Melanie and Mats thew; Tina Neuwoehner; Judy Smith; and Brenda York.

Other guests were: Linda French, Hilda Fowler, Lela Ault, Robbie McDonald, Larverne Puchoff, Irene Votoupal, Debbie Jolly, Katherine Jolly, Debbie Smith, Mary Dunahue, Linda Lelenevski and Marcia Hollis.

Living Every Day by Bob Thomas, President, Thomas Mortuaries

Tradition - Dignity - Support

COPING WITH SHYNESS

Ex-President Jimmy Carter suffers from it, so does Prince Charles, Barbara Walters, Carol Burnett and approximately 40% of the American population.

Shyness is an alienating force that prevents people from realizing their full potential and enjoying the company of others.

Most studies indicate that people are not born shy. Shyness evolves out of particular experiences we have in the home, in school and with peers.

Shyness is brought about because of feelings of inferiority and the fear of taking a risk.

Can everyone who is shy overcome their shyness? Of course they can. Shyness is self-induced. Nobody forces you to be shy. You choose shyness.

At the core of shyness is an excessive concern for security. Going with what you know, rather than chancing something uncertain. Understanding this is the key to helping to overcome shyness.

Very shy people can start by doing some things that are scary to them, such as saying "Good Morning" to three strangers each day, and build from there.

Greeting strangers is one of the big fears of excessively shy people. When you think about it though, what's the worst thing that can come of it?

That they won't say "Good Morning" back to you? What's so bad about that?

Shy people must learn to control their anxiety about new situations. This can be done by imagining desired consequences from each new situation rather than the negative consequences that are feared. Or it can be done by taking a "worst case" scenario.

Imagining the worst thing that can come from this new situation. In most cases you will find that the worst thing that can happen isn't really so bad.

One of the best ways to overcome shyness is to become a good listener. If you steer the conversation to a subject that the other person is interested in, you won't have to worry about carrying the conversation. The other person will be more than happy to do that for you.

Concentrate on making and keeping eye contact with people you are talking with.

Lack of self esteem can be overcome. Start by not saying negative things about yourself. Don't start a conversation with phrases like, "I'm not really very smart in these matters," or "I know my opinion doesn't mean much." If you really don't think you know much about a subject, take the time to find out about it. Go to the Granite City Public Library. They have literature on almost any subject you can imagine and it's free. And don't be too shy to ask the librarian for help. That's what she gets paid for.

BOB THOMAS
President

Shy people live in a world of self imposed exile. Exile from people around them and exile from many new and wonderful experiences. If you are one of these shy people, only you can free yourself from that exile and learn to "Live Every Day."

KMOX radio tops spring ratings chart

The spring ratings revealed very little as to which radio station is No. 1 in St. Louis. KMOX continues to dominate the market, according to the most recent Arbitron survey released July 21.

KMOX scored a 23.0 share of radio listeners 12 years of age and older, a whopping 11.5 points better than second-place KSHE-FM.

Buoyed by the success of Cardinals baseball, KMOX increased this spring's share .6 from last year's figure of 22.4. Based on the figures of radio listeners from mid-March through June, the St. Louis top 30 didn't change much. The first figure is the 1987 spring audience share, the second number is that station's share for the same period in 1986:

1. KMOX 23.0/22.4; 2. KSHE 11.5/12.0; 3. KJMM-FM 7.2/5.5; 4. KHTZ-FM 6.8/4.1; KEZK-FM 6.8/6.5; 6. KSD-FM 4.1/3.7; 7. KWK-FM 4.0/3.4; 8. WIL-FM 3.4/4.8; 9. KYKY-FM 3.3/4.3; 10. KUSA-AM 2.7/3.3.

The switch of J.C. Corcoran from KSHE to the airwaves of KSD-FM did very little—KSHE dropped only half a point, while KSD went up only .4.

WMRY-FM didn't fare too well either, dropping a full point to 2.5. Obviously, the highly publicized incident involving Angela Gabriel, who locked herself in the studio to protest management's selection of music, didn't fool anyone.

Triplets, Optimists stay alive

Alton finally vanquished

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

GRANITE CITY — The third time wasn't a charm for Alton. Winners twice over the Triplets at Varsity Field this year, Post 126 couldn't pull it off a third time as Granite City stayed alive in the District 22 North Division playoffs with a 6-4 win on Wednesday.

The victory means Post 113 will square off against Edwardsville at Varsity Field at 6 p.m. today. If Post 199 wins, they win the division. If the Triplets win, they will face Edwardsville again at Varsity Field on Friday.

"They're a pretty good club," manager Gus Lignoul said of Alton, which finished at 10-15. "They gave us a pretty tough time all year, but we got the one we needed."

Darin Hendrickson pitched seven tough innings and got Matt King on a grounder to end the game with the tying runs on. King had homered earlier. His grounder to shortstop Jeff Grote turned into a close play when Scott LeVault had to dig the throw out of the dirt.

"We seem to make it as exciting as possible," Lignoul said. "I don't know why he threw to first when he had the play at second."

Again, the Triplets didn't hit much (seven hits), but they were able to bunch their offense together for runs. They got a single run in the first on a Tim Hogan walk, a stolen base and a Todd Hinterser single.

Hogan doubled with one out in the third and Alton lefty Steve Goodman intentionally walked Hinterser to get to Charlie Cook.

LeVault dominates Highland

GRANITE CITY — The summer baseball season ended on a quiet note for Highland Post 439 on Tuesday. And Scott LeVault is the one to blame.

LeVault kept the Triplets' hopes alive with a two-hitter, and only a balk prevented him from picking up a shutout as Granite City took a 3-1 win from Highland in the District 22 North Division playoffs.

The loss ended Highland's season at 10-12, while Granite City headed into Wednesday's rematch with Alton for a shot to take on Edwardsville.

LeVault pitched one of the tightest games of the year. He walked two batters in the first inning but got Jason Augustin on a foul pop to third baseman Todd Hinterser. He retired eight in a row before Mike Grapple singled with one out in the fourth.

LeVault was called for a balk on a pickoff attempt, and that cost him a run when Augustin singled up the middle. Granite City was already ahead 3-0 by then and that was it for Highland. LeVault retired the last 11 hitters and finished with 10 strikeouts.

But all the discussion afterwards was about the balk. LeVault knew what he had done, but it wasn't anything different than the move he has used for years.

"When I turned to throw, both feet were pointing towards home plate," he said. "The umpire

Nolan's hit delivers win

GRANITE CITY — The playoffs are where the real action is. Just ask the Optimists.

Granite City and the Alton Optimists were rained out of Tuesday's scheduled playoff opener in the first inning, but the wait was worth it. Chris Nolan's single in the bottom of the seventh gave the Optimists a 4-3 win and left them one game away from the league finals in Edwardsville this weekend.

The Optimists play the Belleville Quax at Varsity Field tonight immediately following the Granite City-Edwardsville senior league game. The winner advances to the league quarterfinals at 2 p.m. Saturday at Edwardsville's Hoppe Park.

An Alton team that won only three games this year gave the Optimists all they could handle. They carried a 3-2 lead into the sixth, but a well-pitched game by Chris Wehardt. He fanned 11 and walked three, but was hurt by a couple of misplays that led to two unearned runs.

But Nolan walked to start the sixth (he was on base five times) and was safe at second when he jarred the ball loose from shortstop Chris Harris on a Nolan's steal. Charlie Lignoul bunted him to third and Joe Wallace ripped a double off the fence in the left-field corner to tie the game.

Jeff Kohler started the winning rally with a walk and was bunted to second by Rich Van Buskirk. Kory Burton then nearly won the game with a tremendous fly ball down the line in left. It hooked foul at the last

Granite City puts two on 'Line'

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

It's that time of year again when the Big Red Line begins to form.

No, I don't mean the one that Luis Sharpe and Joe Bostic play on. Nor the one that Al Baker and David Galloway populate.

This Big Red Line rarely disappoints a frequently disappointed group of Football Cardinal fans at Busch Stadium. While the female fans bring binoculars to get a closer look at the players, the male fans often find their binoculars wandering off towards the Big Red Line the team's cheerleaders — as the game drones on and the Redskins, or Giants, or 49ers are building up a big lead.

Granite City's own Debbie Rozycki and Helen Gain will get their turn on the line this year. They won spots on the team at tryouts held in Earth City, Mo., July 18-19.

"There were around 300 girls there the first day," said Rozycki, a 1985 graduate of Granite City High School, as is Gain. "It was pretty competitive, but I still was able to make friends with lots of the other girls."

The Big Red Line is under the direction of Ray Parks, a choreographer who works out of Earth City, which is not far from the spot of the proposed domed stadium for the Big Red.

"Ray Parks is a great choreographer," Rozycki said. "It's a really hard job to do. People think it's easy because the cheerleaders always look so great, but it takes lots of stamina."

Debbie Rozycki

Rozycki is a speech communications major at SIUE who has competed in several pageants in the area. She will enter the Miss Collinsville Pageant in August.

"I thought this would be a neat thing to try," she said. "They had 20 judges there and I got a lot more confidence after they cut it down to about 130 girls from 300 after the first day."

But I still didn't know if I would make it.

"They ended up picking 63, but there were only 23 new ones. There were 40 who came back from last year's team."

Rozycki's job was to show up for eight regular-season games and one pre-season game. The new members are practicing four times a week — Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Sunday in Earth City. And outside of the games, there are up to 15 promotional appearances a month.

"I think we'll be getting our schedules on a weekly basis for the promotions," Rozycki said. "I think it's going to keep me very busy. They asked me to judge the Little Steam Heat auditions this week. That made me feel pretty good, like I was really a part of it."

Debbie said she is more of a baseball fan than a football fan, but one would have to feel something for the Big Red to go out and cheer for them on a typical December day. And, as you know, the cheerleaders don't exactly dress for the cold.

"I did it in high school," Rozycki said. "So at least I'm used to going out in the freezing weather with not enough on."

Now that's dedication. Of course, it would be a lot easier to go out in the freezing December weather if the team was 10-4 instead of 4-10.

Paddlers swimmers close to perfection

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

GRANITE CITY — Celeste Sonnenberg is hoping for the perfect ending of a perfect season.

Paddlers Swim Club has been totally unfamiliar with the taste of defeat this summer, and Sonnenberg's crew would like to keep it that way for one more Saturday.

That would be this Saturday, when Paddlers hosts the Southwestern Illinois Swimming Association swim championships at the pool located at 2121 Johnson Road. The preliminaries get going at approximately 8:30 a.m. and Sonnenberg hopes the day is a happy one.

Paddlers rolled through the regular season, scoring victories over all six of their SWISA rivals in dual meets. Now they will all gather for the big prize, and Sonnenberg's team is obviously the big bully on the block.

"We've won every dual meet, but that's no big deal," said Sonnenberg. "When you get seven teams that, they start pulling points from one another and don't know what will happen."

"It helps to go undefeated because you know you can beat the other teams. But the other teams will be ganging up on us to see if they can knock us off."

But Paddlers will have more than enough ammunition to fire back at their opponents. Swimmers like David Baker, John Acker, Tonya Cusker, Suhre, Pat Curry, Julie Goclan, Beth Goclan and Jenny Baker are just a few of those weapons.

"There have been lots of surprises this year," Sonnenberg said. "And all of them have been good. I had a pretty good idea of what the older kids could do going to the boys like Zach Suhre would hardly put his face in the water last year, but now he's one of my best in the 3 and 4 meter group. And Pat Curry just keeps getting stronger and stronger. I keep thinking he has got to stop improving soon."

Sonnenberg said most of the relay teams are looking very strong and that's where she points to the big prize. As for the competition, well, there isn't a lot of optimism for Paddlers' opponents based on regular season results. Montclair of Edwardsville is the only team to come within 100 points of Paddlers, dropping a 366-277 decision on July 21. Summerhaven was also reasonably competitive, losing by a 372-267 count on June 23.

Outlaws coming to Tri-City

Wallace outguns Prior and Fisher

By Joe Senter
Correspondent

GRANITE CITY — Wallace, Durbin, Archambault and Stanton.

Sounds like a law firm. But it was the law of Tri-City Speedway July 25 as those top competitors won their respective feature events.

Mike Wallace won the U.M.P. late model stock car 25-lap with his firebird. Wallace started from the front row and outgunned John Prior, the feature winner of July 18. Wallace had his hands full as he took the lead and led the full distance with Prior nipping at his tailpipes.

Chasing Prior was Ron Fisher and the third place finisher was Bobby Dietz. Wallace also won the heat race and the handicapped event to give him a clean sweep.

Wallace, personal injuries are not common because of strict safety regulations," he said. "But the risks are definitely there."

Unlike drag racing, these 700

horsepower, alcohol-burning cars run wheel to wheel at up to 150 miles per hour, with 20 of them

Granite City leads with 6 all-stars

Granite City's standing in the area baseball community was reaffirmed with the announcement of the District 22 All-Star team this week.

Six players from Post 113 will represent the Tri-Cities in the league classic to be held Aug. 4 at Fairview Heights' Longacre Park. In addition, Gus Lignoul will cap his first summer at the helm by managing the North Division squad.

Managers were selected on the basis of the regular season champions. Granite City won the North Division and Fairview Heights took the South Division crown. Post 172's Fred McClary will run the South ship.

Lignoul will have lots of familiar faces to call on. Todd Hinterser, Charlie Collins, Darin Henderson, Scott LeVauit, Tim Hogan and Jamie Hogan make up 30 percent of the North Division roster. Only graduating seniors and older are eligible for the teams, which explains why an otherwise deserving player like John Moad didn't make the squad.

"It's going to be a lot of fun," said Lignoul. "Edwardsville and ourselves combined for 29 wins, which is almost as many as the other (five) teams in the division had. So it's not surprising that we had the majority of the players."

Edwardsville had five players chosen, meaning those two teams make up more than half of the 20-man roster. Post 199 sends pitchers Paul Aberil and Dan Meyer, catcher Mark Ringering, infielder Bob Sirtak and outfielder Tom Fayollat to the game.

Fairview Heights also will be represented by five players: Pitchers Sam Lance and Kurt Hill, catcher Fred Judge, outfielder Greg Ittner and infielder Brian Gibson. No other team has more than three representatives.

"It's my first time, so I'm getting some help from Ken Schaake (Edwardsville) and Ken Lamoreaux (Collinsville)," Lignoul said. "We got together and tried to put together a starting lineup."

Lignoul indicated Hinterser, Hendrickson and Jamie Hogan are tentatively set to start in the infield, and Tim Hogan would start in center field.

Following are the complete rosters for the game:

NORTH DIVISION
Manager: GUS LIGNOUL (GC)
Pitchers: Matt King (Alton), Ken Best (Collinsville), Paul Aberil (Edwardsville), Dan Meyer (Edwardsville), SCOTT LEVAULT (GRANITE CITY), Greg Sanders (Grigheim), Dennis Lambert (Troy).
Catchers: Brian Babinette (Alton), Mark Ringering (Edwardsville).
Infielders: Tim Kuntz (Bellaire), Bob Sirtak (Edwardsville), DARRIN HENDRICKSON (GRANITE CITY), Todd Hinterser (GRANITE CITY), JAMIE HOGAN (GRANITE CITY).
Outfielders: Brad Pata (Collinsville), Tom Fayollat (Edwardsville), CHARLIE COLLINS (GRANITE CITY), TIM HOGAN (GRANITE CITY), Ken Dieselhorst (Edwardsville), Steve Semmes (Troy).

SOUTH DIVISION
Manager: FRED MCCLARY (PO)
Pitchers: Sam Lance (Fairview Heights), Kurt Hill (Fairview Heights), Jeff Hunsent (Marian), Jeff Gutley (ESL), Scott Muskopf (Smithton), Mike Vogt (Bellaire).
Catchers: Fred Judge (Fairview Heights), Sean Kemper (Marian).
Infielders: Brian Gibson (Fairview Heights), Darin Henderson (Fairview Heights), Ed Wayne (ESL), Bobby Lewis (ESL), Mike Joseph (Bellaire), Dean Fournie (ESL), Mike Mitchell (Cahokia).
Outfielders: Greg Ittner (Fairview Heights), Clay Muehr (Waterloo), Jeff Leubenthal (Cahokia), Todd Sirtak (Bellaire), Scott Volmer (O'Fallon).

T.J. Davis takes third place in Olympic tourney

T.J. Davis of Granite City is making a dent in the boxing world at the age of 15.

Davis took third in the National Junior Olympic Tournament recently. He will be attending an Olympic camp in Marquette, Mich., Aug. 15-25.

Davis lost in the semifinal of the Junior Olympic tournament to eventual champion Castell Fernando of San Diego by a 3-2 split decision. Normally fighting at 132 pounds, T.J. fought at 139 and did very well, according to his coach, Roger Bloodworth of Granite City.

"It was a close decision," Bloodworth said. "And there were some people there who thought T.J. could have been the winner."

In earlier rounds, Davis scored 5-0 decisions over Mathew Lee of Lolo, Mont., and Derek Land of Prescott, Ariz.

Two teammates of Davis, Andre Downs and Joe Caution of St. Louis, won national titles in their weight divisions. Downs fights at 100 pounds and Caution is a 235-pounder. Bloodworth is trying to obtain a building in Granite City where he can train his fighters. He has been training them in St. Louis but expects to have a building lined up by the end of the summer.

T.J. DAVIS in classic boxer's stance with coach Roger Bloodworth.

McEnroe has another epic Davis Cup battle

The United States Davis Cup team suffered a grave defeat recently when it lost to the surprisingly strong West German team 3-2.

This means, for the first time in history, the Yankee team will not be a member of the final 16, but will be forced to battle its way through a tough qualifying round of matches in 1988.

Down 2-0, the former Terrific Two of STUE, Ken Flach and Robert Seguso proved once again they are the world's best doubles team by romping through the West Germans in straight sets. John McEnroe had lost his first singles match against Boris Becker in grueling fashion — 4-6, 15-13, 8-10, 6-2 and 6-2. Tim Mayotte lost a heart-breaker in five sets to Eric Jelen.

The final day featured two must matches for the Americans. Mayotte came within inches of beating Becker in a five-set nailbiter after McEnroe had defeated Jelen.

By Al Barnes

McEnroe's loss to Becker will go down in tennis history as the longest match: Six hours and 39 minutes. Both players turned in some great tennis. Both appeared determined to show that they couldn't be ignored in future international tournaments. Becker, for example, had been eliminated in the first round at Wimbledon, while McEnroe dropped out of the All-England classic with a bad back.

I was fortunate to cover the previous longest Davis Cup match (6:32) in 1982 between the U.S. and Sweden at Kiel Auditorium. McEnroe played a starring role in that one. He defeated Mats Wilander in five sets on a Sunday afternoon before 10,000 fans.

Neither I nor my son Mike was prepared to say which match was better. I guess I lean towards McEnroe's win in 1982 and Mike appeared to choose the McEnroe-Becker battle.

Both were great Davis Cup matches. And if you are one of those tennis fans who loudly proclaim that U.S. tennis is suffering a decline, forget it. It's not that American players are worse, but that the rest of the world is better.

Just 10 years ago, never in my wildest dreams did I foresee the astonishing grade of tennis the young men and women are playing now. It's tremendous.

Regional swim meet in Millstadt

For years, the conference meet has been the end of the season for local swim teams. But that's about to change.

At 9 a.m. on Aug. 8, the Millstadt swim team will host the first Southern Illinois Summer Swim Championships. First-place swimmers from the Kaskaskia, Midwest, Southern Illinois and Shawnee Conferences, the Southwest Illinois Swim Association and the St. Elmo team have been invited to participate.

The meet was organized by Marianne Schaefer of Millstadt.

"We have a lot of good swimmers in our conference (Shawnee) and we'd like to see how we compete against other conferences," Schaefer said. "If it's successful, we'd like to make it an annual event."

"Our conference is 10 years old and most of the other conferences have been around at least that long. Summer swimming is getting stronger — many of the kids are swimming year-round now."

"I've heard a lot of families who are looking forward to this meet and a lot of swimmers are setting goals to try to qualify. St. Elmo isn't in a conference, but they heard about it and we had another lane to fill, so we invited them."

In the event of rain, the meet will be held on Aug. 9.

EDWARD MITCHELL of Granite City became the new Missouri light heavyweight champion for the Contact Karate Commission on July 18. He won a unanimous decision from Steve Cook of Festus, Mo. Mitchell is an instructor at Quad City Martial Arts in Granite City.

Wrestlers, ex-coach win at Prairie State

Paul Brandt and Brent Davis of the Warrior wrestling team took silver medals at the recent Prairie State Games in Champaign.

Brandt, who will attend Illinois College in Jacksonville this fall, took a silver in the 178-pound weight class. Davis, who will be a junior, got a silver at 115 pounds.

Former Granite City wrestling coach Bill "Red" Schmitt also took first place at the Games in the 6.2K run.

Hospice holds golf tournament

Hospice of Madison County will hold its first annual golf tournament Aug. 8 at Arlington Golf Course in Granite City.

Tee-offs for the four-person scramble are scheduled to start at 11 a.m. The $35 entry fee includes green's fees, a meal, awards and attendance prizes.

Among the prizes are a new Oldsmobile from Woodrome Oldsmobile for the hole-in-one contest, a custom-made driver from TG's Club Repair for the long-drive contest, a TFM Gold Series putter for the closest-to-the-hole contest, and Cardinal baseball tickets.

The first 100 applicants will be accepted. Any applicants over that amount will have money refunded. There will be no refunds for no-shows.

For more information on entry forms, contact Nancy Kaprelian at 798-3399. Proceeds will benefit Hospice of Madison County, which provides home care for the terminally ill and their families.

YMCA stars co-ed volleyball league

The Tri-City Area YMCA will begin a co-ed volleyball league on July 30.

Each six-person team will consist of three men and three women. The league is limited to four teams and will last six weeks.

The first four teams to send in an entry fee of $75 will be included in the league. To reserve a spot, call Bob Slate at 876-7200.

MAC soccer signups Aug. 1

Boys and girls interested in playing soccer this fall in the Mitchell Athletic Club soccer program are invited to sign up this Saturday.

Signups will begin at 10 a.m. Aug. 1 and continue until 2 p.m. at the MAC athletic fields concession stand. The cost for an individual is $20 and will pay for 12 games this fall and eight games next spring. Teams interested may sign up at a cost of $360 for a team of 18 players.

There are no further charges which will be assessed and the cost includes fall and spring seasons.

For more information, call Jim Petroksi at 876-0067, Terry Wallace at 931-0114 or Bob Little at 931-1409. The season will begin on Sept. 12 with a soccer parade.

Three local athletes in Special Olympics

Tim Redstone and Joanne Higgins of Granite City and Denise Forister of Madison will be part of the Illinois team to attend the Seventh International Special Olympic Summer Games July 31-Aug. 8 in Indiana.

Redstone and Forister will compete in aquatics, and Higgins, the head coach of Region I of Area 12 — will serve as the head coach of the Illinois aquatics team.

Redstone and Higgins are two of six from Area 12 to be named to the Illinois team. Their selection is from a field of more than 1,700 athletes and 50 coaches representing the Area 12 counties of Bond, Clinton, Jersey, Macoupin, Madison, Monroe, Montgomery, Randolph, St. Clair and Washington counties.

Other athletes from Area 12 are Charles Johnson, Dupo, running; and Sharon Parent, Beckemeyer, bowling. Roscoe Whitfield of Swansea will join Higgins as an assistant coach of the aquatics team.

They join a 119-member team for the Summer Games, which are jointly hosted by Notre Dame University and St. Mary's College with the cities of South Bend and Mishawaukee, Ind. More than 4,000 athletes and coaches will be in attendance to represent every state and territory of the United States as well as more than 40 countries, including the People's Republic of China.

The athletes have won gold medals in their respective events on the area and state levels as part of the qualifying procedure. They then completed physical exams and extensive interviews with a selection committee. They have been training on a local level since March and recently returned from a two-day training session with other competitors on the state team.

GCHS physicals set for Aug. 14

Physical examinations for all Granite City High School athletes will be performed on Aug. 14.

Physicals are required for all boys and girls who wish to participate in sports. Boys physicals will be done at 1 p.m., with the girls physicals to follow at 2:15.

Cost of the physical is $10 per student. The physicals, to be done in the main gym at the high school, are for GCHS students only.

MHS physicals moved to Aug. 14

Physicals for all boys at Madison High School who wish to participate in sports will be Aug. 14.

The date has been changed from the original date of Aug. 11. The physicals will begin at 10 a.m. that day. Any boys who want to play in fall, winter or spring sports must be present that day or they will have to make arrangements to have a physical elsewhere. The exams at the high school are free.

Girls physicals are usually held at the high school the first week of school.

ins. Collins drilled his second homer of the summer for three runs and a 4-0 lead.

"I was a little surprised, they walked Todd intentionally," Lignoul said. "I thought they would at least try to get him to swing at a bad pitch. And Charlie answered the challenge."

Hits by John Moad and Joe Wallace led to Tim Patterson's sacrifice fly for a 5-0 lead. But Alton chipped away on King's homer in the fourth and RBI doubles by Mark Elliott and Dan Stephan in the fifth.

But Wallace scored an insurance run in the Triplets fifth after making a baserunning mistake. He was picked off first with Moad at third, but Moad stayed in the rundown long enough for Wallace to get to third. He scored on a wild pitch.

Elliott drove in a run with a two-out single in the seventh and Hendrickson walked Stephan to bring up King, but the ground ball ended the game.

Lignoul said LeVault will likely start tonight with only one day's rest. But he is allowed only five innings. With a win, Hendrickson could come back on Friday against Edwardsville.

If Granite City can win the division, they will face the South champion in a best-of-three series this weekend. The first game would be on the road Saturday, followed by the second and third (if necessary) at Varsity Field on Sunday.

moment. Burton then struck out on a disputed foul tip.

"I don't usually go after the umpires like that, but that ball obviously hit the dirt," said third base coach Carl Benson. "But Chris picked us up. We need to get the big hits in the late innings."

Chris Ryan drew a walk to set up Nolan's heroics.

Nolan began the first inning with a double and scored on Chris Hampsey's infield hit. Lignoul singled home Wes Ruskirk—who had walked—in the second for a 2-0 lead.

After a leadoff walk in the first, Weihardt fanned the side and did it again in the third. But an error by Ryan, a stolen base by Mike Lewis and Doug Watsak's hit made it 2-1 in the fourth.

Weihardt walked Chris Harris to start the fifth, then booted Wayne Grammer's grounder to put runners at the corners. Wayne Harris' infield hit tied the game, then Lewis doubled off Chris Bartling's glove in left field and Grammer came in with the go-ahead run. With runners at second and third, though, Weihardt got Rob Mouser on strikes and Jerry Keenan on a ground ball to escape further trouble.
